Mud Creek First To Add Recreation

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Mud Creek Watershed of Gage County, the state's first special purpose watershed, added another first Tuesday when it became the state's first watershed to include recreation on a cost-sharing basis as an additional primary purpose as provided for in the Food and Agricultural Act of 1962.

With the signing of the supplemental watershed work plan by state conservationist, Dale C. Jaedicke, the floodwater retarding structure 4-J, located eight miles east and two and one-half south of Beatrice, received approval to include recreational water storage estimated as a water surface area of 150 acres and a land area of 425 acres that will provide recreation for an estimated 13,500 people annually.

Installation cost of the structure is estimated at $206,430, with Public Law 566 allowing an expenditure of $97,740 toward flood prevention and $102,000 to recreation.

The sponsoring organization stated in the supplemental watershed work plan that full public use for recreation purposes at the structure would result from the development of boating, water skiing, picnicking, camping, hunting and fishing.

It is estimated that 400,000 people reside within a 50-mile radius of the facility.

The Nebraska State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission will be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the structure and it's recreational facility.

Willard Barbee, assistant director, state Game Commission, termed the Mud Creek recreation facility as "one of the few reservoir sites that will have a natural boundary of native trees."

Another first acquired by Mud Creek Watershed Conservancy was the first Farmers Home Administration watershed loan made in 1961. Mud Creek Watershed was named "1963 Watershed of the Year" in the annual watershed award program sponsored by the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star.

Foe's Extremism Stand Offers A Choice—Callan

First District Democratic congressional nominee Clair Callan Tuesday said that Republican Rep. Ralph Beermann's "position of welcoming support of extremists" offers the voters "a clear choice on this critical issue in 1964."

Callan wrote Beermann: "I am sincerely sorry that you refuse to join with me in rejecting dangerous political fanatics.

"However, I am pleased that you have made your position clear enough to offer the people of the First District a clear choice."

Beermann had written Callan that he "will welcome support from any and all shades of the political spectrum as long as that support is legally given."

Callan replied that, "This can only be interpreted as refusal on your part to reject these dangerous and divisive elements. It must also be interpreted that you will continue to 'welcome' support of high officials of the John Birch Society.

"This position of 'welcoming' support of extremists is particularly amazing in the light of Senator Goldwater's recent repudiation of the Ku Klux Klan and other fringe groups."

Callan had written Beermann asking him to join in rejecting the political support of "extremist" groups, including the Klan, the John Birch Society and the Communist Party.

Beermann's latest reply questioned whether the matter was raised "in a sincere attempt to clarify an issue."

Rather, he wrote, "it appears to be a woeful attempt to equate my views with a segment of people who might find them attractive.

"As such, it constitutes the oldest political trick in the book and smacks of pure claptrap."

Lake Claims Ogallala Man

Ogallala (AP) — Wally Stone, 24, Ogallala drowned Tuesday afternoon in a Lake McConaughy bay.

Companions said the young man swam across Sports Service Bay and was coming back when he sank about 20 feet from shore. The Ogallala Fire Department recovered his body.

Stone's father, Gordon, is hospitalized in Ogallala recovering from injuries received in a May 21 auto accident.

Platoon Joins Rightists

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—A Pathet Lao platoon joined Laotian rightist forces, a spokesman of the Laotian chief of staff said. The spokesman said he was not sure how many Pathet Lao troops surrendered to the rightists.

Poverty Measure Okayed

. . . RELUCTANTLY

Washington (AP) — Congress responded to election year urgings Tuesday and okayed President Johnson's "war on poverty," a $947.5-million program sure to figure as an issue in the fall campaigning.

Senate passage, after somewhat reluctant acceptance of House amendments, completed action on Johnson's high priority anti-poverty bill-disdainfully branded as "Madison Avenue" legislation by Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

The Arizona senator was not present during Tuesday's voice vote approval, but had voted and spoken against it when the Senate passed it originally.

Senate Democratic leaders decided not to take a chance on sending the bill to the House again and made no fight against amendments providing for a loyalty oath and giving governors veto power over some projects.

Might Not Pass

Leaders in the House, which approved the measure 226 to 184 Saturday, had warned it might not pass on a second go-round.

Sen. John G. Tower of Texas reflected the view of many Republicans in calling the anti-poverty bill "a politically oriented, election year bill."

The vote represented a major victory for Johnson, who had kept pressure on members of Congress to approve the program before going home for the election campaign.

But Congress must still vote to appropriate the money in separate legislation before the anti-poverty program can get under way.

Major items authorized in Tuesday's action include $412.5 million for a job crops and training programs for unemployed youth; $340 million for the 90% federal share of community action projects involving health, welfare, housing, and vocational training; $35 million for loans in poverty stricken rural areas; and $150 million for job training demonstration projects.

Would Help 600,000

Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps director who is expected to be named by Johnson to head the anti-poverty program, has estimated the measure would directly help 600,000 persons and affect seven million families through community action projects in the first year.

"This bill may not be a total answer," said Assistant Democratic Senate Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, "but it is a good beginning."

Food Stamp Bill Is Sent To President

Washington (AP) — The House sent the food stamp bill for needy families to President Johnson Tuesday.

The House accepted the Senate version of the bill, which Johnson has called a key part of his war on poverty. The Senate changes were regarded as minor.

The bill expands and makes permanent a pilot program started by the late President John F. Kennedy, now going to 43 counties.

Under it, needy families can buy the food stamps with the same proportion of their income that they would normally spend for food. The stamps can be spent at the corner grocery for almost any food item. On the average, a family would get $10 worth of food stamps for $6 in cash.

The program is expected to cost $25 million the first year, $75 million the next, $100 million the third year and $200 million for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1967.

Eventually it could cover an estimated four million families and cost about $360 million a year.

Greece Pledges Support For Cyprus Despite Split; U.N. Asks Flights End

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—A sharp split between Greece and President Makarios of Cyprus was reported from Athens Tuesday night. But the Greek government pledged full support to Cyprus in view of Turkish air raids on the island.

Makarios declared in a broadcast to the Greek Cypriots that he will fight on "alone or with others" to achieve victory. And the Cypriot ambassador pressed charges of Turkish violation of the U.N. cease-fire before the U.N. Security Council in New York.

With the consent of the 11 members, Council President Sivert A. Nielsen appealed to all nations concerned in the crisis to end flights of planes over Cyprus that would imperil the cease-fire.

Athens' government-controlled radio said the Greek Cypriot attack on Turkish Cypriots in northwest Cyprus last week was launched without consultation with the Greek government, as previously agreed upon.

The attack brought air raids by Turkish jets on the Greek Cypriots, precipitating a situation that threatened war between Greece and Turkey, members of the Atlantic Alliance.

Alarmed

Athens Radio said the Greek Cypriot attack on the Turkish Cypriots so alarmed Premier George Papandreou of Greece that he fired off a cable to Makarios saying: "I express my deepest sorrow because we have agreed differently, and you have acted differently."

The split may have been behind the hasty trip to Athens Tuesday by Spyros Kyprianou, Greek Cypriot foreign minister. He met with Papandreou and afterward a communique said Greece pledged full support to Cyprus in case of an attack by Turkey.

Athens Radio said, "In view of the barbaric (Turkish) bombing of the noncombatant population, the Athens government decided in an extraordinary session to throw its full weight in support of Cyprus."

With Makarios again talking of fighting, U.N. experts in Nicosia said the U.N. cease-fire could vanish in one explosive puff.

The same sort of word came from a Western diplomat in Ankara, who said "the situation is hanging by a thread."

Turkey sent two sweptwing jets over the northwest coast of Cyprus on reconnaissance flights. Turkish landing craft and naval units were reported standing by at the major port of Iskenderun.

Long Session

After a long cabinet session in Ankara, a Turkish government spokesman said the government is watching the situation on Cyprus with "constant vigilance." He called for a speedup of talks in Geneva to find a political solution to the communal conflict.

The Turkish Air Force warned of heavier blows unless the Greek Cypriots conform to the conditions set by Turkey in accepting the U.N. cease-fire. It said reconnaissance flights will continue until Greek Cypriots give up their gains on the northwest coast.

The Greek Cypriot government scorned the demand for a pullback of Greek Cypriot forces to positions held before the attacks on the Turkish Cypriots were loosed last Wednesday.

At the United Nations, Cyprus accused Turkey of violating the cease-fire after it went into effect by attacking the northwest village of Polis Monday. Supported by the Soviet Union and Greece, Cyprus Ambassador Zenon Rossides asked the council to call on Turkey to end its reconnaissance flights over the island.

Incorporated

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson urged the council to renew a call to Cyprus and Turkey to cooperate with the U.N. command on Cyprus and to comply with the cease-fire. This was incorporated in Nielsen's call.

Turkish Cypriot morale has received a big boost from last weekend's Turkish air raids. The Turkish population now firmly believes its aspirations for dividing the island into Greek and Turkish sectors will be realized.

Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou issued a victory-or-death declaration on a visit to Athens to confer with the Greek government of Premier George Papandreou. He said there will be no withdrawal.

Nebraska Delegates To Democratic Convention Favor Humphrey For VP

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is top choice for President Johnson's vice presidential running mate among Nebraska delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

A poll of delegates undertaken by The Star also produced support for Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, and favorite-son Gov. Frank Morrison.

A number of men who have been ruled out by the President also turned up on the list of personal preferences voiced by Nebraska delegates.

RFK Included

Included were Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Sargent Shriver, head of the President's anti-poverty program.

Delegates were asked who they believed would "make the strongest running mate" for the President and who they personally would like to see him choose for the vice presidential slot.

Humphrey received mention from National Committeemen-elect Marvin Werve of Omaha, State Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, former State Chairman Russell Hanson of Newcastle and Edwin F. Dosek of Lincoln.

McGinley would have personally preferred Shriver, while Dosek would have liked McNamara.

Mansfield would make the strongest running mate, James Green of Omaha believes, but he would personally prefer Kennedy.

McCarthy or Governor Morrison would be the strongest choice, according to Frank B. Morrison Jr. of Ogallala, who noted that Johnson's running mate "should be a midwesterner."

Shriver Strongest

James Exon of Lincoln, President Johnson's campaign coordinator for Nebraska, personally believed that Shriver would have been the strongest candidate.

State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney listed Stevenson, Shriver and Kennedy — with Morrison as his personal choice.

Most delegates declined to name personal preferences.

Perhaps National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert of Shickley best summed up their position: "Whatever LBJ wants, LBJ gets."

Goldwater, Rockefeller Hold Private Meeting

Hershey, Pa. (UPI) — Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, pre-convention foes for the GOP nomination, met Tuesday on the eve of a summit meeting designed to unify the party for the election campaign ahead.

The private meeting took place in Goldwater's apartment in Washington. Wednesday, the Arizona senator flies here by private plane, arriving just before the closed unity session starts at 10 a.m. EDT.

Rockefeller flew to Washington by private plane from Albany in mid-afternoon and returned home three hours later. Goldwater's aides said they knew nothing of what was discussed, or who had requested the meeting.

Last weekend, Rockefeller announced he was supporting the national Republican ticket headed by Goldwater, whose nomination he had fought.

A spokesman for the New York governor explained later that Rockefeller did not intend to campaign actively for the Goldwater ticket, either outside or within New York State.

The Goldwater-Rockefeller conference came to light as National Republican leaders and hopeful candidates gathered here for the "unity" meeting called by Goldwater.

The one-day conference climaxes a series of unity sessions and campaign pep talks Goldwater has held in Washington with GOP House and Senate members and with the party's congressional candidates.

The tone of the Hershey meeting was set by Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who fought Goldwater bitterly but unsuccessfully for the nomination last month at San Francisco. Scranton is host for the conference here, and he invited participants to an informal dinner Tuesday night at the Indiantown Gap military reservation.

Johnson Handed Setback

. . . 50-35 VOTE

Washington (UPI) — The Senate handed President Johnson a stiff setback Tuesday by voting to cut his foreign aid program by $216.7 million.

The across-the-board slash would reduce the foreign aid authorization to $3.25 billion compared to the $3.467 billion approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the $3.516 billion requested by the administration.

The vote was 50-35 but many senators switched their votes in favor of the cut after it became clearly apparent that the Senate was going to adopt it.

The amendment was proposed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who earlier in the day predicted that the Senate would adopt the foreign aid authorization without any substantial change.

Series of Victories

The surprise move by the Senate came after a steady series of amendments by Morse and others, including one to reduce the ceiling to $3 billion, were turned back as administration forces scored a steady series of victories.

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska voted with the majority. Sen. Roman Hruska was announced as paired for the bill.

The vote on the cut came after the administration had failed to reach a compromise with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen over a "rider" to the foreign aid bill designed to delay the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment ruling.

As a result, Dirksen said he would go ahead with his plans to add the rider to the measure that would postpone the court's "one-man, one-vote" decision until after one or two legislative sessions in any state.

When the Senate passes the aid authorization measure, it must go back to the House where the whole bill could be killed because of House reluctance to accept the apportionment rider.

President Johnson also is opposed to the amendment.

Serious Threat

The upshot could be a serious threat to Democratic hopes to have Congress adjourn for the year on Aug. 22, two days before the Democratic convention opens in Atlantic City.

An attempt to reach a compromise on Dirksen's proposal was made by the Illinois senator himself, Senate Democratic leaders, and administration officials.

The administration was aiming at language that would not wipe out the court's ruling, but would allow federal courts to go slow for a year in requiring state legislatures to comply with the decision that representation in both state houses should be based solely on population.

But after Tuesday's talks, Dirksen said the compromise had "no real teeth in it." He said he would go back to his original amendment, with the possible modification that the delay be for one legislative session, or one year, instead of two sessions.

The Senate then resumed work on the authorization measure. More than 20 amendments still remained for action. After the authorization is passed, Congress will have to consider an appropriation bill to provide the actual money to be spent on the authorized projects.

Increase Rejected

In Tuesday's opening debate, the Senate rejected, on a 48 to 44 vote, a move to sharply increase interest rates on low-yield development loans. The action came on an amendment sponsored by Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

Armed And Angry Restaurant Owner Defies Law, Turns Away 3 Negroes

Atlanta (UPI) — Segregationist Lester Maddox, armed with a pistol and backed by 200 cheering whites, defied the nation's new civil rights law again Tuesday by turning three Negroes away from his restaurant.

"You're dirty communists and you'll never get a piece of fried chicken here," shouted Maddox, waving his arms but keeping the pistol in its holster at his side.

Maddox first defied the civil rights law within hours after President Johnson signed it into law last month by ushering three Negroes from his restaurant at pistol point.

A three judge federal court then specifically ordered Maddox to desegregate his restaurant, but he appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, asking the order be stayed. The high court rejected the request Monday.

White Swings

During Tuesday's confrontation, one white spectator swung at one of the Negroes but missed. Police quickly stepped between the two.

The three Negroes who sought service were Albert Sampson, executive vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Revs. Albert Dunn and Charles Wells.

Maddox intercepted the three at the restaurant door and stood arguing with them despite a heavy rain that hit the area.

"You're not here to eat," Maddox shouted, "you're here to run us out of business."

"The government has told you to integrate. We would like to enter," Sampson said.

"You're not about to enter," Maddox snapped back. "If you live 100 years you'll never get a piece of fried chicken here," Maddox said. His restaurant specializes in skillet fried chicken.

When Maddox referred to the integrationists as communists, Sampson asked: "Are you calling President Johnson a communist?"

'Yes, Yes'

"Yes, yes," shouted someone in the crowd.

Sampson repeated his question, and finally Maddox, his face livid with anger, replied: "No, but you're a communist and you're not coming in."

The establishment was jammed with patrons when Tuesday's trouble began.

Maddox summoned 17 of his Negro employes to help block the entrance to his restaurant when the integrationists showed up, and some of them pleaded with the integrationists to leave.

"I'm a poor widow woman with children. What will I do if I lose my job?" one of the Negro employes asked.

"If you lose your job we'll get you one . . . Lester Maddox is using you," the integrationists replied.

Throughout the exchange the whites shouted insults at the Negroes and jeered them.

'Push Him Out'

"Push that black boy out of the front of that door," one of the whites yelled.

Moreton Rolleston, operator of the Heart of Atlanta Motel, also originally refused to comply with the new civil rights law and his case went to the Supreme Court along with Maddox's.

Rolleston said Tuesday he would comply with the federal court order, but disclosed he had refused a reservation for Sampson because Sampson "lives in Atlanta."

Rolleston said, however, he had accepted a reservation from a Negro from "out of town" and that a convention to be held at his motel in the near future would have at least one Negro among the delegates.

"I intend to obey the law," Rolleston said, "but we are not accepting reservations from Atlanta residents.'

Other developments:

—Three Negro women were served without incident Tuesday at a previously segregated restaurant in St. Augustine, Fla., where there has been widespread defiance of the new civil rights law.

—Authorities in Mobile, Ala., reported that a 15-year-old Negro boy was shot Monday night from a passing car.

Did LBJ Tip Off Viet Nam Raid?

. . . PENTAGON, ADMIRAL AT ODDS

Washington (UPI) — The Pentagon and an admiral at sea apparently were at odds Tuesday over whether President Johnson had, in effect, given Communist North Vietnamese advance notice of the U.S. air strike against their gunboats and bases last week.

The issue flared again Tuesday in the House, where one Republican accused the President of a "grandstand political play" that was irresponsible.

"A doughboy soldier notifying the enemy 90 minutes in advance of a raid would be tried for treason, and he could expect grave and serious consequences, but this action is supposed to be rewarded in November at the polls," Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., told a hushed House chamber.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, Okla., promptly rejected Foreman's charges as untrue and added that "no president of the United States for political gain would ever do, or ever in history has done, anything to jeopardize the lives of our troops."

At the heart of the controversy is the question of whether the Reds already knew the air strike was coming when the President went on nationwide television at 11:36 p.m. EDT last Tuesday to announce the action.

After Foreman raised the question in the House Friday after the raid, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said the communists had "received indications of the attack" by radar by the time Johnson spoke.

By all accounts, the U. S. Navy planes did not reach their targets until about 90 minutes after the President's announcement.

Monday, Rear Adm. Robert B. Moore, commander of the task force that carried out the raids, said he did not believe his planes were seen on communist radar before Johnson spoke. In fact, he added, he considered Red radar so inferior that it probably did not detect the impending air strike until the U.S. planes were almost over their targets at about 1 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

The Pentagon stuck by McNamara's statement.

The admiral stressed he did not think Johnson's statement gave the communists any useful advance warning. He said the air strike would have been just as successful had the Reds had three days' advance notice.

Foreman said the admiral's observations confirmed his original charge that Johnson's broadcast came as a tipoff to the enemy.

"Never before in recent history has there been demonstrated such high-level international military irresponsibility," he said. "The Pentagon's and the President's awkward attempts to cover up this grandstand political play only goes to prove how irresponsible the announcement was."

Albert said he had investigated the matter and was satisfied that the announcement was withheld until there was reason to believe communist radar had spotted the planes.

Reports Say RFK In Senate Contest

New York (AP) — The New York Times said Wednesday it has learned that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has decided to run for the U.S. Senate in New York.

The Times said Kennedy expects to make a formal declaration of his candidacy, and announce his resignation as attorney general, next week.

"The Kennedy camp," the Times said, "anticipates an endorsement from Mayor (Robert F.) Wagner in the next few days, an authoritative source disclosed."

Tuesday, an upstate Democrat said he would challenge Kennedy's residence qualifications if he seeks the Democratic nomination to the Senate.

The announcement came in Albany from George Palmer, of Schenectady, a top strategist in the camp of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, of Amsterdam, an undeclared candidate for the nomination.

Kennedy, brother of the late president, is a Massachusetts voter now living in McLean, Va.

Federal law says that a senator "when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen," making it appear that Kennedy would be eligible if he moved here before the Nov. 3 election.

But Palmer maintained that state law required that a senatorial nominee be a resident of the state at the time of nomination. The candidate will be chosen at a state convention Sept. 1.

Crash Basis

Palmer said any legal action would be initiated in the State Supreme Court and would be on a crash basis between the time of any Kennedy announcement of candidacy and the convention.

He said residency entailed an irrevocable decision to abandon all previous residences. He held that a candidate could not "merely hang his hat in some convenient apartment at the time he is actually elected."

Wagner has spoken highly of Kennedy as a possible candidate without committing himself to an outright endorsement.

Magnets Delve Into River For Clues

. . . TO STRANGE MURDER CASE

Philadelphia (AP) — Authorities delved into the Delaware River with a powerful magnet Tuesday, seeking two pistols which they believe may wrap up their solution of the Dante Restaurant murders.

Under strange and complex circumstances, Judith Lopinson, 25, wife of the restaurant's part-owner, and Joseph Malito, 52, a partner in the business, were slain on the night of June 19. The killing was done in the tiny basement office of the mid-city cafe.

The husband, Jack Lopinson, 27, has been indicted for the double slaying, and has been trying to regain his freedom on a habeas corpus writ. He lost another round in this fight when a court Tuesday dismissed a petition to reinstate the writ rejected a week ago.

Right after the killings Lopinson said two gunmen killed his wife and partner and shot him in a leg.

'The Hatchet' Indicted

Indicted Tuesday was Frank (The Hatchet) Phelan, burly, six-foot-four strong-arm man who told police he fired the seven shots that killed the two, and said Lopinson hired him to do so for $10,000. Lopinson denied this. The grand jury returned three bills of indictment against Phelan, charging murder and conspiracy to commit murder.

Phelan, 26, said he pitched the two guns—a .32 and .38 caliber—into the river in the area where the police are working with the big magnet and devices similar to mine detectors developed in World War II.

So far there has been no sign of the guns, but Police Lt. Michael Rothman said, "That powerful magnet should bring them up — if they are there."

Probably the most puzzling aspect of the double crime, police say, is the killing of Lopinson's pretty, dark-haired wife. Relatives and friends reported that the Lopinsons appeared to be much in love.

Tried Insurance

Detectives said over the weekend they had been told that Lopinson tried to buy a $10,000 life insurance policy in his wife's name three weeks before she was killed. Detectives said a spokesman for the insurance company informed them that the application was turned down but declined to say why.

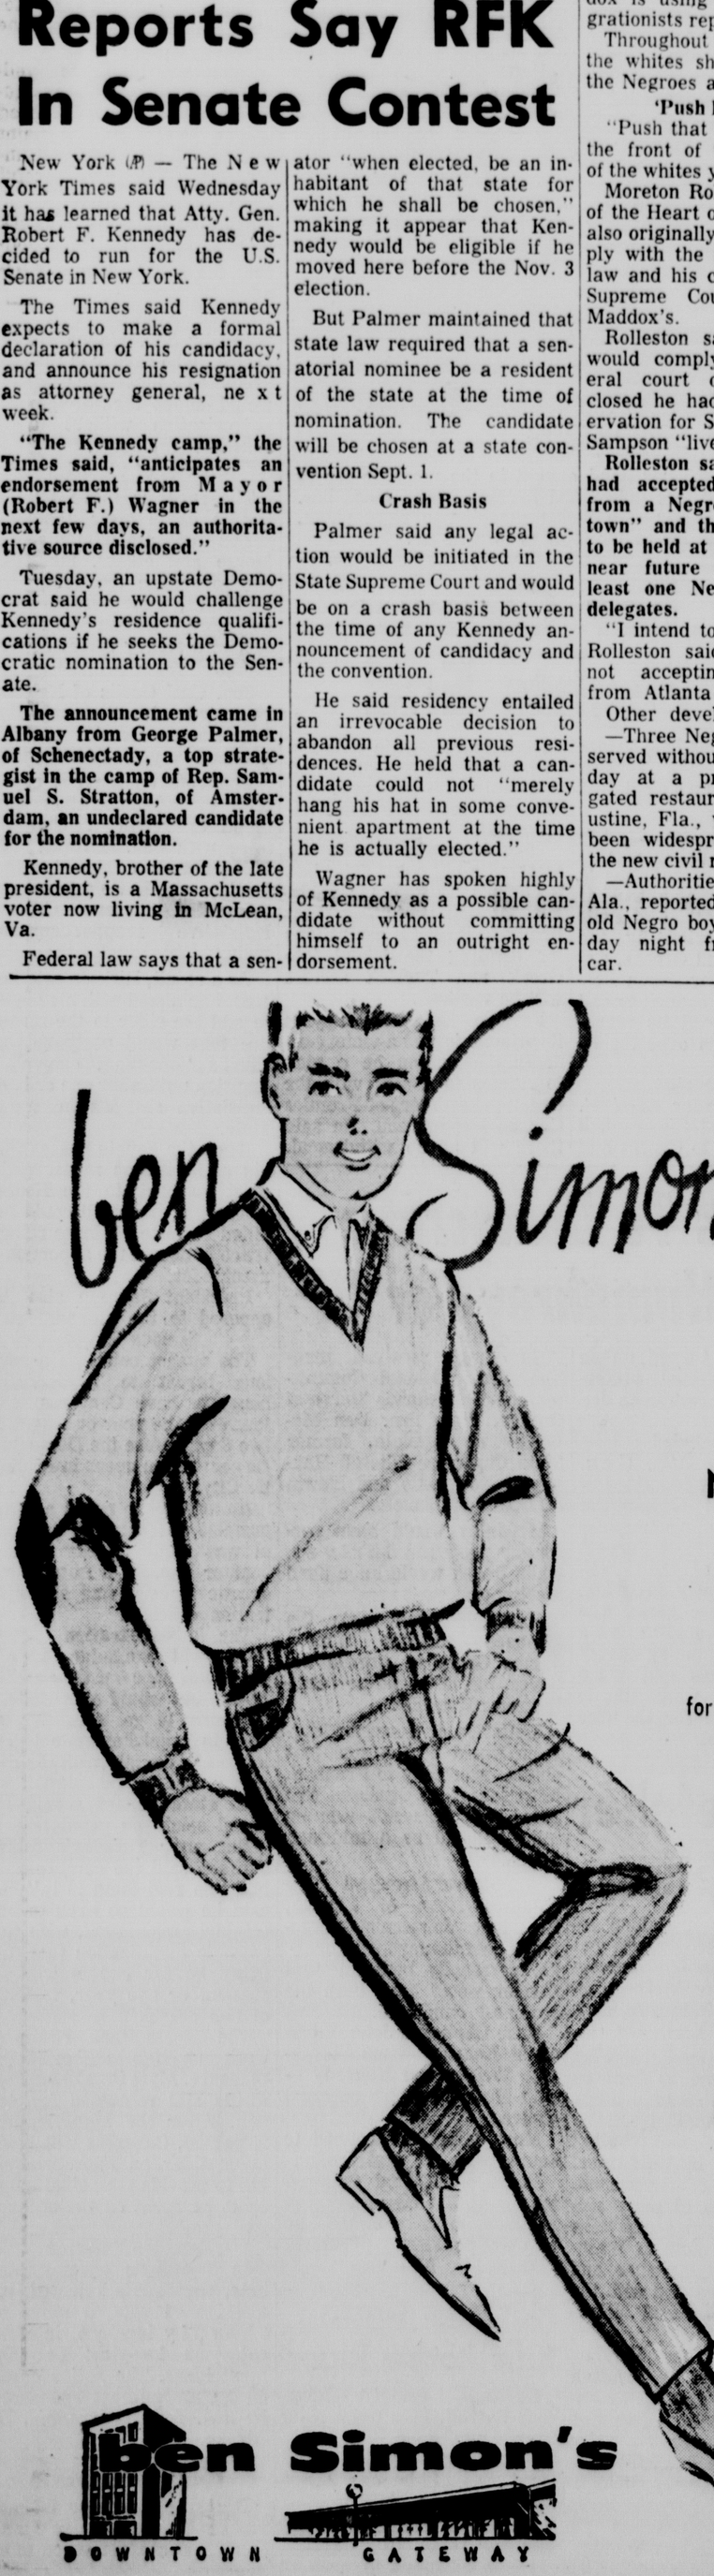

Police said they also learned that Malito held a $15,000 judgment note against Lopinson.

Cadillac

THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CARS ARE BUILT BY CADILLAC.

To prove our point, we offer as evidence the three Cadillacs shown above.

From top to bottom in our illustration are a 1960 Sedan de Ville, a 1962 Coupe de Ville and a 1963 Sixty Special. Each is unmistakably Cadillac. Each, regardless of vintage, will have special appeal to the man who desires the comfort, convenience and pride of ownership that only Cadillac can offer.

That's why thousands of wise car buyers favor a previously owned Cadillac over new cars of other makes.

First of all, they realize that Cadillac engineering is so far advanced that "newness" becomes a relative term. In fact, there are features found on late model Cadillacs that are only now being offered on other cars. This is a major reason why a Cadillac retains its value through the years, from buyer to buyer.

Another thing to consider. Cadillac owners lavish the most meticulous care on the cars they are so proud to own. The "car of cars" almost always receives regular maintenance and servicing by highly skilled and carefully trained mechanics.

Your authorized Cadillac dealer's selection of one-owner models has never before been so appealing. And he can probably match one of these fine cars to your budget.

Who knows? Your used Cadillac could possibly be the "newest" car you've ever owned!

Unusual Heat, Drought Deflate Corn Outlook

. . . Yield Estimate Drops Three Bushels Per Acre

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Aug. 1 estimate of Nebraska's 1964 corn crop at 213,000,000 bushels is a sharp drop from the 226,000,000 bushels estimated last month.

The yield per acre estimate of 50 bushels is down three bushels per acre from July.

State-Federal Agriculture Statistician A. V. Nordquist in Lincoln attributed the marked plunge to "severe drought conditions in southeast and south central Nebraska." He said most of the dryland corn crop in these areas was harmed considerably by the unusual heat.

Nordquist said the production estimate is down 88 million bushels from the five-year (1958-62) average, and 66 million bushels from last year's output when 287 million bushels was harvested.

The yield per acre estimate is six bushels under last year and 2.6 bushels under the five-year average.

"The corn crop all over the state needs rain very badly," Nordquist said. "The drought conditions still exist in southern parts. Northern areas, however, have had some relief."

He said the USDA Aug. 1 estimate of the 1964 winter wheat crop of 73,825,000 bushels is up 1,476,000 bushels from the July 1 forecast, due mainly to "a good crop in western districts."

Wheat Estimate Up

The winter wheat yield estimate of 25 bushels per acre is up from the 24.5 bushels estimated last month, and up one-half bushel from the five-year average.

Nordquist said the winter wheat production estimate is about 10 million bushels above last year, and about 6 million bushels over the five-year average.

"The late harvest in western districts turned out unusually good," he said.

OU President-Elect Asking For Chance To Prove Himself

Omaha (AP)—The president-elect of the University of Omaha, under fire from an Omaha congressman, said Tuesday "I ask only one thing and that is that I be given a chance to prove myself."

Dr. Leland E. Traywick spoke at a press conference. He also gave newsmen a prepared statement.

Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., has criticized selection of Traywick. Part of the controversy has involved whether an avowed Communist might be permitted to speak on the campus.

"The facts are that I did not say 'I would welcome' a Communist," Dr. Traywick said Tuesday. "I hate and abhor communism as much as anyone."

"I have no fear of Communists in open debate," he said.

If Americans are going to understand what they are up against, he added, "They had better learn something of this ideology that would bury them."

He said he has no intention of inviting a Communist to speak at the university. Asked what he would do if a Communist asked to speak on campus, Traywick replied: "I would say let's cross that bridge when we come to it."

Also involved in the controversy with Rep. Cunningham is Traywick's forced resignation from Southwest Missouri State College.

Commenting on his resignation, Dr. Traywick said "there were honest differences of opinion between the board at Springfield, Mo., and me. It became apparent early this spring that we could no longer work together in spite of a pledge of absolute confidence in me late last fall."

Chairman Varro Rhodes of the Omaha Board of Regents reiterated Dr. Traywick has "100%" support of the regents.

Wheat Estimate For U.S. Rises; Corn Is Down

Washington (UPI)—The Agriculture Department Tuesday estimated the 1964 corn crop at 3,885,397,000 bushels.

The crop reporting board said Aug. 1 conditions indicated a wheat crop of 1,285,261,000 bushels is in prospect, compared with last month's forecast of 1,275,304,000 bushels.

The corn crop estimate as of Aug. 1 compares with the July forecast of 3,888,433,000 bushels, production last year of 4,081,791,000 bushels, and five-year average of 3,670,215,000 bushels.

The board estimated 58,399,000 acres of corn will be harvested for grain this year, compared with 60,654,000 acres harvested in 1963.

Corn yields were estimated at 66.5 bushels an acre, compared with the 1963 yield of 67.3 bushels.

The estimated wheat crop was made up of 1,012,409,000 bushels of winter wheat—now almost entirely harvested—and 272,852,000 bushels of spring wheat. The wheat total of 1,285,261,000 bushels compares with 1963 production of 1,137,641,000 bushels.

'65 Beauty Meet Slated At York

Chadron (UPI) — York will be host city for the 1965 Miss Nebraska contest, it was decided at a summer planning session of the Nebraska Jaycees here.

The city won out over two other Nebraska cities vying for the contest, Grand Island and Bellevue.

Ed Lonsdale of York was named state chairman for the pageant.

Chile Breaks Relations With Castro's Cuba

Santiago, Chile (AP)—Chile has suspended diplomatic relations with Communist Cuba, the government announced Tuesday night. Under sanctions voted against Cuba by the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States (OAS), Chile also will cut off its trade relations with the Castro regime.

Chile's action leaves only three Latin American nations still maintaining relations with Cuba—Mexico, Bolivia and Uruguay.

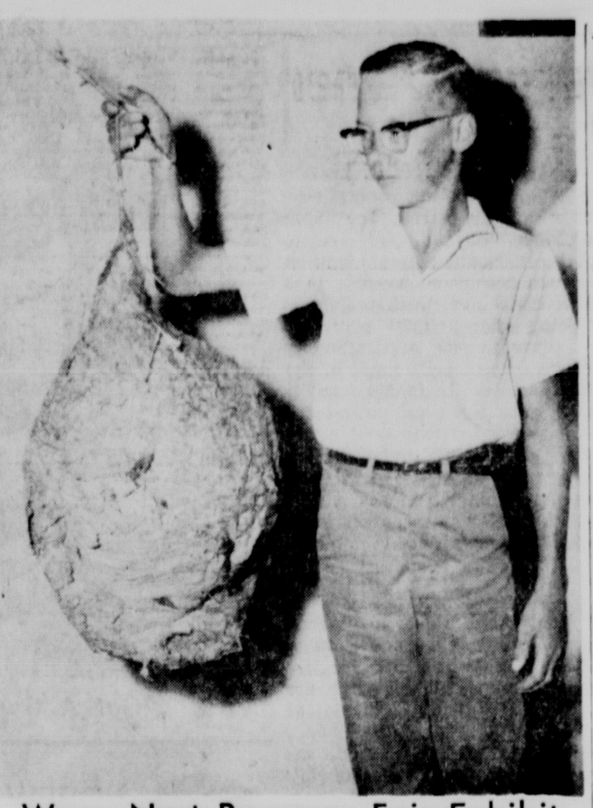

There was no specific mention of trade in the government announcement. The OAS foreign ministers, however, had ordered both a diplomatic and trade quarantine of Cuba.

Last year Chile had a nearly $10 million trade exchange with Havana. It included mostly foodstuffs and some nitrates in exchange for Cuban sugar. The exchange was running about the same this year.

The sanctions were voted against the Castro government in Washington last July 25.

Following Chile's action, a U.S. official in Washington said "We are naturally pleased."

The sanctions were voted at the request of Venezuela, which claimed the Castro government—through terrorism, sabotage, infiltration and the shipment of arms—had attempted to overthrow the Venezuelan government.

Wasp Nest Becomes Fair Exhibit

Kenneth Larsen, 13-year-old rural eighth grader of west of Verdigre, holds a king-sized paper wasp nest which he will display at the Knox County Fair school exhibit. The nest was brought from Mississippi by Kenneth's father, Arthur Larsen, who is employed by the U.S. Geological Survey. During Larsen's 2-year tour of duty in the south, Mrs. Larsen, Kenneth and 9-year-old Lynette are living on her brother's farm. Kenneth turned the nest into a school project by writing a paper on wasps in general and on the paper wasp in particular. The latter gets its name because its nest is made of thin paper-like substance. The wasp manufactures it by selecting certain types of plant life to chew, mixes it with saliva and makes a substance similar to paper pulp.

Lutherans Name Heinz, Wyssman Delegates

Lincoln Star Special

Seward — Delegates to the 28th convention of the Southern Nebraska District of the Luthearn Church, Missouri Synod, Tuesday elected delegates to attend the synodical conference convention to be held in 1966.

The Rev. Max Heinz of Kearney and Mynard Wyssman of Falls City were chosen to represent the district at this convention which calls together leaders of several Lutheran synods, including the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

In other elections the Rev. Paul Sellman of Tecumseh was elected circuit counselor or supervisor of the Falls City area. Byron Bockelman, teacher in the parochial school of Trinity Lutheran Church at Hebron, was elected to the stewardship committee of the district.

'Church At Crossroads'

Dr. Rowland W. Wiederanders of St. Louis, first vice president of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, reported to the delegates that the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, is at the crossroads.

"It must recognize the need to launch out into mission work as never before," he said. "We must let the church be the church in mission areas. We can no longer patronize them as mission stations, but rather recognize their dignity as a church.

"The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, must realize that it is in the world, that it owes an obligation to the world, and that is is ready to face the world. For this reason we are sending observers to the Vatican Council and to meetings on the faith and order of the Lutheran World Council."

More Violence On Strike Front

Falls City (UPI)—Violence flared anew at the Frontier Homes factory where the United Steelworkers strike neared the end of its third month.

Burton C. Davidson, general manager of Frontier, said that someone apparently climbed over the high fence around the factory during the night and used a crowbar to poke holes in the ceiling and wall paneling of finished mobile homes. He estimated the damage at $1,000.

Strikers resumed the yelling of "scab" at employes going to work and it appeared that at least one complaint would be filed as a result under the Nebraska peaceful picketing law.

Frontier now has a work force in excess of 100, excluding supervisory help and truck drivers.

Many Assets At Home

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Vacationing can often be a game to challenge the most determined player. One of the most difficult moves is to be in the right place at the right time. To see the standard tourist attractions across the country is one thing and where you spend the night should be another. Unfortunately, the two very often don't mix. Where the tourist traffic is heavy, sleeping accommodations are often costly.

A distance of 50 miles can make as much as $15 a night difference in the cost of your lodgings. For instance, a motel on the northwest side of the Smoky Mountains wanted $30 to accommodate a family of six. But a motel in a town 20 miles further northwest asked for only $18. The more distant motel was not quite as plush as the first one but it was also out of the heavy concentration of mountain sightseers. The trick in such cases is to stay the night ahead close enough to a tourist attraction to reach it easily the next day but not close enough to be influenced by its prices. And finally, you must be able to get far enough away by the following evening to again avoid the high rates on food and lodging.

Money Made Easy Way

Of course, there is always a difference in motel prices. One can pick out the really plush places anywhere if he wants to pay the price but there are an amazing number of fine motels that are in the modest price range. As might have been expected, many motels are no longer motels at all but have become hotels.

Some chain motel operations have become so successful that they have grown by leaps and bounds. As a result, they have blossomed into multi-story facilities with main lobbies, indoor swimming pools, bellboys and all the works that are generally associated with a hotel.

The net result of such growth has been elimination of some of the most attractive features of the motel. In the beginning, they offered convenience, comfort and low cost but times are changing this. In one of the big chain motels today you may or may not park your car near your door. The place is too fancy to afford you, with a comfortable feeling, the luxury of casual clothes for dinner and breakfast. You pay a bellboy to haul your luggage into your room and now and then you have to put out a tip to get some ice. What such operations are offering is evidently in demand as they seem to be crowded with patrons but we hope that the honest to goodness motel never disappears completely from the highways of the nation.

Vacationing Americans do seem bent on spending as much money as possible in a short period of time and plush motels is one way of doing this. Another way was seen on the Tennessee side of the Smoky Mountains where a town sells itself to the tourists on the basis of its Indian lore. It is Coney Island from the word go but the sidewalks are so crowded with people you can hardly walk down them and the highway through town is bumper to bumper with crawling automobiles. Stores that bulge over into the sidewalk area are loaded with pure junk, supposedly of Indian heritage.

It is our guess that about 90 percent of the merchandise offered in this town is "made in Japan." The woods are literally full of people and places waiting for the dollar-happy tourist. Not all of them, of course, are a disappointment. Chattanooga, Tenn., was a pleasant experience with attractions worth seeing and reasonably enough priced.

St. Augustine, Fla., has undoubtedly been hurt by the race troubles it has experienced but it is a historic city well worth seeing. The social ills that may fester up there from time to time are not apparent to the traveler and certainly cause him no embarrassment when in the dormant stage, as they are the great majority of the time.

In total, the traveler comes home with mixed feelings of good and bad but he is convinced of one thing —Nebraska is not a hopeless state from the tourism point of view. Maybe we will never serve as a vacation focal point but even that is not as preposterous as it might sound. What we can do for sure is develop to an attractive point the natural assets we have, our cultural heritage and our economic and social patterns. Our approach to tourism should be modern in its thought and physical detail, true in its molding and honest in its execution.

Only Limit Goals Set

In many areas such as facilities for the traveling public and advertising we are behind the times but our potential is much greater than that of many areas that are today reaping a harvest of tourist dollars. Too often, we look not at what we have but what we lack and we can't build the future out of this kind of negativism.

Chronic Unemployment

We note that the national employment rate has dropped below 5 per cent for the first time in 52 months. In July it fell to 4.9 per cent.

It was another way of saying that the United States now has 72,405,000 persons gainfully employed, and this is evidence of national prosperity and business expansion.

But it also says that we still have a bedrock number of somewhere around 4 million chronically unemployed. And the matter goes beyond providing work opportunities. It means that no matter what the demand there are a great number who cannot qualify. This is not the normal sort of unemployment which rises or falls according to the number of jobs available, but the sort that persists in any event.

It appears that we are not preparing enough of our people for self-support under these most advantageous conditions. They are forming what we have perhaps too lightly called the hard core of unemployment.

This hard core tends to be self perpetuating because the children grow up in a hardship environment, lacking both the incentive and the means to get out. A vicious circle is formed which ultimately has little bearing on the number of jobs available. It goes to say that if one gets far enough down his chances of getting back up are reduced.

Job opportunities alone will not solve the problem. Training or retraining is a necessity, that plus a changed environment such as will instil a strong desire to get out of the rut.

It is a problem that one day will have to be faced between the alternatives, as Sen. McCarthy of Minnesota said, of choosing between massive repression or massive help.

The Mayor's Veto

Certainly there can be no castigation of Mayor Dean Petersen for his veto of a City Council ordinance opening the Stevens Creek watershed for residential development. But there can be and is some honest disagreement with his position.

The mayor faced the problem squarely and did what he felt was proper. He may be right, too, but we cannot help but feel that his position represents an unconscious failure to face the hard reality of the future.

Development of Stevens Creek according to the comprehensive plan of the city is due sometime in the future, not today. To open the area now would create utility and street problems that could be delayed if other areas of the city were developed first.

Denial of the proposal on this basis is in accordance with usually sound and certainly standard planning principles. All this, however, does not make the mayor right and the City Council wrong in their respective actions on the Stevens Creek project.

The big fly in the ointment is the suitability of that area given precedence over Stevens Creek. Stevens Creek is a choice residential area and land placed ahead of it in the comprehensive plan is not.

What is offered in place of Stevens Creek as available residential land simply is not wanted by many people. In the final analysis, this raises a serious question as to the validity of the comprehensive plan—a plan that should be an instrument of public service, not public frustration.

And finally, the problems of streets and utilities that would result from Stevens Creek development are there simply because they have been ignored for too long. Our obligation today is to meet and solve these problems, not continue hiding them under a barrel to plague some future generation.

Fretting The Question

Nebraska's position against road signs along the Interstate highway is becoming ambiguous. And apparently so is that of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

At the outset the Bureau came out strongly on the esthetic side. It offered a cash bonus to states which would outlaw signs so that the highway would proceed with an uncluttered view of the countryside.

The state of Nebraska went along with the idea, prohibiting billboards nearer than 660 feet from the highway. And it limited the size of signs outside that limit to 150 square feet. It thus became eligible for the added federal money.

Now there is a move on that would increase the size of the signs to a maximum of 500 square feet and we are told that the Bureau is looking kindly toward the larger size, perhaps not as large as 500 square feet but perhaps 400 square feet.

The question may get back into the next legislature and if it does it will not be in defense of esthetics, but in behalf of larger signs, perhaps even more of them.

There perhaps are some unfortunate states in which a good dose of billboards would be better than nature's unencumbered view. We are sure Nebraska is not one such. And a case can be made against all highway distractions in the name of safety, too. A tourist hurtling along at high speed actually should be keeping his eyes on the highway and can be as accident prone if he is instead viewing some of the grandeur of nature as he would be deciphering the words of a billboard in passing.

But that is not the question in this instance. The money is to be paid for the elimination of billboards. If the state now wishes bigger billboards it should turn down the money. Tripling the size of billboards now is just another way of having your cake and eating it too. It is becoming not a case of esthetics but one of impact at 660 feet.

Poll Watchers Get Kicked Out

WASHINGTON — In Tennessee last week about fifty college professors and students known as the "Committee For Free And Fair Elections in Fayette County," made repeated calls to the Justice Department to help them get poll watchers to prevent ballot stuffing in one of the most important vote tests of the year.

Being unable to get anyone to move at Justice, they called me. I got a similar runaround from Justice. Bobby Kennedy was out making speeches. Burke Marshall, head of the Civil Rights Division would take no calls. Others were evasive or inaccessible. Finally I called the White House. There, Lee White, in charge of minority problems, got busy immediately. He said he would get the FBI into the case.

By this time one car driven by a Vanderbilt University teacher and carrying a Negro to the polls had been shot at, a Cornell graduate, David Jette, had been arrested for stopping to pick up a Negro voter on the highway, and various poll watchers had been thrown out of polling places though they carried letters signed by Rep. Ross Bass, a candidate for U.S. Senator.

☆ ☆ ☆

Shortly after the White House got into the act, Jack Rosenthal, assistant press relations officer of the Justice department returned my call and also got busy.

My conversations with him and the White House took place at approximately 12 noon, E.S.T. At 2 p.m., Prof. Charles Haynie, mathematics teacher at Franklin Marshall College in Pennsylvania telephoned from Somerville, Tenn. to say that poll watchers were still being kicked out of polling places and the FBI had not turned up.

He reported that election officials appointed by the local Democratic committee were dumping surplus ballots into the boxes and not tearing numbered stubs off ballots, but leaving them on so they could see how people voted.

☆ ☆ ☆

At 4 p.m., E.S.T., Prof. Haynie called again to say that the FBI still had not arrived, that high-handed practices were continuing and that civil rights workers were powerless to do anything, despite a permanent injunction from U.S. Judge Marion Boyd to prevent the secretary of the Democratic Executive Committee from intimidating Negro voters.

At 5 p.m., Rosenthal phoned from the Justice Department to say that the FBI had gone promptly to Sommerville. At 5:45 p.m., Prof. Haynie called from Tennessee to report that two FBI men had arrived from Memphis, and informed him that they were not there to provide any protection for election workers or to visit the polls to check on election irregularities; but to interview only two people — John McFerren, leader of the local Negro movement and a Mr. Stokes, attorney for the group.

Stokes was in Memphis and the FBI had just come from Memphis. McFerren was one of the few Negroes accepted as a poll watcher and refused to leave his post for very long.

Demos Want LBJ To Delegate Authority

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has made a remarkable record as leader of the Democratic majorities in Congress. Democrats are starting to complain that he is not turning in a similar performance as leader of his party.

With the convention less than two weeks away, they are still without a clear channel to the President who can make political decisions and make them stick.

Even in Washington, where the political road map is the object of incessant study, party officials are afraid of stumbling. Outcries from the states get louder as pre-convention tensions increase. Part of the trouble is the much-touted organizational skill of the Goldwater forces. Democrats with the good sense to notice it naturally look at their own party and perceive faults in organization they might otherwise overlook.

☆ ☆ ☆

They understand that the President is a "can do" man and was eager to prove it after he inherited White House power. But they regard it as an extension of Johnson in his successful role as Senate majority leader, and they argue that he has a different problem as he turns to face the voters.

They do not at all want him to concentrate on party problems. They only want him to delegate political authority so he won't have to.

One experienced Democrat suggests that Johnson's best issue will be the contrast between him as President and what the Republican nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater, might be expected to do. Let Johnson keep that contrast before the public and the party can handle the rest, this veteran believes.

It may be difficult for the President to let others do all the boasting about how the lagging 87th Congress was turned into the aggressive 88th which has approved so much of the Kennedy program and a major addition which is Johnson's own.

☆ ☆ ☆

The President poured into the struggle all the lessons of his experience and kept burnished his vast old acquaintance both with leaders of Congress and the rank and file.

The Kennedy political staff, where divided loyalty was most feared, has in fact given Johnson excellent service. The now-complaining Democrats would not only be agreeable to having him draw his campaign manager from this group; they would welcome it as a unifying gesture.

For they have scanned the list of big states, starting with Texas, where nominee Goldwater proposes to concentrate his efforts, and they cannot deny that Democrats are in trouble in all of them.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Unspoken Fear For LBJ's Safety

WASHINGTON—With the Goldwater strategists preparing a detailed personal attack on President Johnson as the centerpiece of their campaign, a consideration that almost no one talks about publicly cannot be ignored. That is the personal safety of the President in the midst of a bitterly fought election campaign.

This concern is underscored by the fact that there has been no vice-president since November 22. Next in line for the office until a new president and vice-president are inaugurated in January is the Speaker of the House, John McCormack, who will be 73 years old in December.

The members of the President's commission on the assassination of John F. Kennedy are just now giving serious concern to this question. A chapter in the report will deal with the security of the President and the importance of educating the public on the need for measures to try to reduce risks.

No one can compel the President to accept security measures such as an armored car and restraints on his movements. President Johnson has been especially resentful of the hedge that the Secret Service tries to throw around him. But all presidents have in one degree or another fought the idea that they must be protected from would-be assassins.

Members of the commission believe public pressure can be brought to bear to persuade a president that he must accept protection of a broader nature not only for his good but for the nation. Allen Dulles, former head of the CIA and a member of the commission, suggested this in a recent interview.

The commission report also will deal with the atmosphere of hate in Dallas at the time of Kennedy's assassination. A study of presidential assassins shows that weak, sick minds are inspired to desperate measures at the time the national climate is inflamed by violent controversy. Members of the commission are reading Robert J. Donovan's fascinating "The Assassins." Four presidents — Lincoln Garfield, McKinley and Kennedy—have been murdered. Theodore Roosevelt was shot and wounded in the campaign of 1912. Between his election and his inauguration Franklin D. Roosevelt was fired on by an assassin in Miami who hit and killed Chicago's Mayor Anton Cermak.

The personal attack which the Goldwater camp intends to aim at every facet of Johnson's past — his political rise, his wealth, even his war record — suggests that the atmosphere in October will indeed be inflamed. The objective is, of course, to try to force a sensitive president to reply in kind — to throw him off balance.

Johnson has said he will not indulge in name-calling and he has cautioned the members of his cabinet against personal attacks on the Republican candidate, Barry Goldwater. Nevertheless, such attacks will come from many sources. Fear and suspicion of Goldwater are evident as the word fascism is bandied about. He will not be immune from threats of violence.

One problem, which the President's commission may or may not discuss in their report, is the increasing and unregulated dissemination of firearms throughout the country. The Minutemen and similar organizations are openly assimilating caches of arms theoretically in readiness to repulse a communist takeover. Evidence shows that many members are fanatical rightists.

☆ ☆ ☆

They have had in the past some intellectual rationalization for their action. Karl Hess, who wrote Goldwater's acceptance speech with its defense of extremism, as a contributor to the American Mercury when it was published by Russell Maguire, wrote the following 10 years ago:

"It would not be America really if it did not produce men who suddenly tire of palaver and reach for the rifle on the wall, to use themselves or to hand to the underdog who needs it."

The report of the President's commission, to be released on September 14 though the White House, will be a monumental work. The report itself will be at least 300 printed pages in length. With it will go 15 volumes of appendices and footnotes. For the bipartisan commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, it had been a difficult, demanding and often a painful task.

On the eve of what many have predicted will be the most savage campaign in our political history the report should be a warning taken with the utmost seriousness of the perils of lawlessness, violence and hatred. It could serve as a sober and restraining influence in the weeks ahead.

Fort Robinson

Lincoln, Neb.

Fort Robinson—a marvellous vacation spot. We would recommend it to anyone who enjoys the out-of-doors.

We (my husband, two children and myself) recently went there for a week. We stayed twelve days and then didn't wish to leave.

There is enough to see on the grounds to fill several days, that is, if one is really interested in learning the history of the geological eras of the place, and the ways of life of the Indians and the early settlers. Even our children, ages 9 and 5, spent two afternoons at the Trailside Museum.

What a thrill to drive down Sowbelly Canyon road early in the morning or late in the afternoon to see a flock of wild turkeys or deer standing serenely by the road. In this day of hectic living there is no better tranquilizer.

We spent many hours walking through "badlands" looking for fossils and Indian artifacts. And we came home with quite a collection of both. Some of our fossils are representatives of life 20 million years ago. We found them ourselves. The children were even eager to find these things.

Even though the temperature was near the 100 mark, many days the trout were more than willing to take spinners and eagerly accepted dry flies early in the morning and late in the day.

There is no night life out there, but we were ready for bed early after a full day of activity.

Even though neither of us are native Nebraskans we heartily endorse the Game Commission's effort at Fort Robinson, preserving the history of the old West.

We would also like to give a pat on the back to John Kurtz, superintendent of the park, and his staff, for their friendliness and courtesy, extended to all visitors.

We so thoroughly enjoyed our visit that we have already made reservations for another trip in the near future and look forward to many more.

MRS. GARLAND G. GEE

A Disservice

Lincoln, Neb.

I have been very disappointed to read that in the near future West Lincoln will vote on liquor by the drink, and to learn that this is being promoted by the Betterment League makes me wonder just how distorted our society has become? I would like to see some explanation in this column of how liquor-by-the-drink can ever better a community.

Every news item I can possibly find about a tavern describes some sort of a tragedy. The morning paper described one of these in Germany — two of our servicemen were stabbed to death in tavern brawls — is this a situation we would like to see repeated in a community so near our air base here? Each citizen who votes for liquor-by-the-drink in West Lincoln is voting for a similiar tragedy.

Hundreds of our servicemen leave Lincoln now with police records that will follow them wherever they go that have been incurred only because we as a community made liquor available to them. It is not fair to our servicemen who do not drink to be confronted with the increased traffic hazards that liquor-by-the-drink will create in this area. A young man on his way to his duites at the base this last month was hit head-on by a man so drunk he could not walk when pulled from the car.

A very wonderful Lincoln mother expressed my feelings in a poem several years ago when she said that we ask these boys to go out and fight for freedom and yet as a society we provide them with an enemy called "alcohol" that will shackle them until they will never know freedom.

No Booms Wanted

Lincoln, Neb.

Someone down at The Star is of the opinion that he and all other Nebraskans would enjoy having Fort Sill and all the other Oklahoma military installations sent up here. He says we would gladly trade a few sonic booms for that much of an upward kick to our economy."

The heck he says.

We already have so many people in Lincoln that the streets and roads are always full of cars and traffic jams. The more people here the more schools we need and the more taxes. So what the heck do we want with more people?

If the Star employes can trade relative peace and quiet for an hourly blast they are just lucky, that's all. To most of us it would put beadwork on our ulcers.

Just because a man has a typewriter and a job for a newspaper doesn't make him up to the job of speaking for the masses. This is one time he missed, by gosh.

Let's have more pleasure in our living and less rambunction. After all!

Time For Right Turn

Lincoln, Neb.

It is time the moderates and the middle-of-the-roaders took a good look. Sometime ago the whole road took a turn to the left. Scenes which were viewed on the left only a short distance back now seem to be on the right.

To get back on course it can only be done by taking a right turn. By this time the turn will have to be pretty sharp. It might even be characterized as extreme.

Air Unit May Seek Hearing

. . . ON UAL'S SERVICE

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority may seek a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearing on the "sufficiency" of United Air Lines' service to Lincoln.

"We should consider going to the CAB," Chairman Leo Beck Jr. told his board Tuesday. "United is not giving the service considering the amount of revenue they're taking out of Lincoln and the passenger boardings."

Becker said the Authority has repeatedly asked for direct flights from Chicago to Denver, but United says its lacks the aircraft.

Direct Conflict

A United noon flight to Denver was rescheduled to late afternoon in direct conflict with a non-stop flight of Frontier to the same destination, he said.

The board directed its attorneys to check the procedure for a CAB sufficiency of service hearing on the matter.

Beck also reported that Frontier Air Lines will put Convair 580 turbo-prop flights direct to Kansas City and Denver into service on Sept. 20.

Negotiations

The board indicated negotiations are continuing to secure north-south air service for Lincoln.

In other action, the board approved a one-mill levy for airport purposes. This maximum permissible levy is estimated to raise $217,200.

Also requested was a one-tenth mill levy or an estimated $21,700 for promotional purposes as authorized by state law.

OK Brochure

The board okayed a $800 brochure for pilot and public information regarding Lincoln's new municipal airport and available services.

Keith Royer of Communications Counselors of Lincoln also outlined an idea to name the municipal airport as Charles A. Lindberg Memorial Airport.

The "Lone Eagle" learned to fly in Lincoln and the publicist suggested the move would give the Lincoln airport a "national image" in proposing dedication ceremonies during the state's centennial year.

The board took the idea under consideration for further study.

Other board action:

—approved a job classification and pay plan for Authority employes based on the city employe plan.

—approved a retirement plan for Authority employes identical to the city employe plan.

—scheduled a Sept. 11 public hearing on proposed rules and regulations for Lincoln Municipal Airport with all interested parties to be notified.

—informally agreed to retain Harold Hoskins and Associates to project the master plan for the airport for future additions and buildings.

All board members were present except Charles Stuart.

RED CHINESE JETS IN NO. VIET NAM

Washington (AP)—A number of Red Chinese jet warplanes are now based at North Vietnamese airdromes near Hanoi the Defense Department said Tuesday.

But they are the older, hand-me-down types once given to China by Russia, described in the Pentagon announcement as MIG 15s and MIG 17s.

The Pentagon made a point of saying that their appearance was no surprise.

Arthur Sylvester, Defense Department information chief, preceded his announcement by recalling that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Thursday that it was probable Red Chinese aircraft would appear in North Viet Nam, a country which has few planes and no jet-powered combatant aircraft.

Indications

Then Sylvester said that "we now have indications that a number of Chinese Communist MIG 15s and MIG 17s have been introduced into North Viet Nam." He said this had been expected for some time because it was known the Reds were lengthening runways at airfields in the Hanoi district. Longer runways are needed for jet aircraft.

Although Sylvester referred to a "number" of MIG's being in North Viet Nam, this apparently did not mean any large force.

Other government sources have suggested that the present total might be 12 to 15.

The MIG's "could very well" be piloted by Red Chinese airmen, Sylvester said, although he also commented that North Vietnamese pilots have been trained in China for use of jet aircraft.

The MIG 15 and MIG 17 types are the oldest of the MIG series. They first appeared in the Korean War. They are far outclassed by U.S. planes now in the Southeast Asia area.

Subsonic

The two MIG classes are subsonic in speed (below 760 miles an hour near the ground).

By contrast, the F102 fighter flown into South Viet Nam recently by the U.S. Air Force flies at a speed of about 900 miles an hour. Other USAF planes which are even faster are deployed in Western Pacific bases within reach of Viet Nam.

Navy carriers of the 7th Fleet include several types of faster-than-sound jets. Among them are the F4B Phantom II planes with a speed of more than 1,500 miles an hour and the F8 Crusader with a similar speed capability.

No. Viets March Captured Pilot In Hon Gai Streets

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam announced Tuesday that a captured American fighter pilot was marched "pale, weary and awe-stricken" through the streets of Hon Gai after he was shot down during the Gulf of Tonkin retaliatory raids.

Radio Hanoi called the prisoner, Lt. (J.G.) Everett Alvarez of San Jose, Calif., "the U.S. pirate, one of (Defense Secretary Robert S.) McNamara's strong men."

The broadcast, monitored here, said Alvarez "taken prisoner by the (North) Vietnamese people, pale, weary, and awe-stricken, staggered along the streets of Hon Gai in his dirty U.S. uniform under the escort of proud Vietnamese People's Army men."

The communist broadcast, quoting from the official newspaper Nhan Dan, added this description of Alvarez' march past the people of Hon Gai:

"They could now see at close quarters the U.S. pirate, one of McNamara's strong men who had been trained for years at the Pensacola airfield in Florida. This professional American officer whom a Western paper has for the past few days not ceased to praise as 'symbol of the fighters bringing civilization to the new world' dared not raise his eyes to look at the fresh evidence of the crimes he had committed in the Hon Gai town. Neither dared he look at the towering cranes at the port which had immediately returned to their normal job of shifting coal onto the fueling vessels.

"He was frightened by the rumbling of machines which sounded like the song of victors who had resumed their construction job immediately after the fight was over."

2-Car Crash Injures Three On 'O' Street

An 80-year-old man and his wife were among three persons injured in a two-car collision at 2nd and O Sts. Tuesday afternoon.

Jennie Alleda Balzer, 80, 2301 Washington, was listed in fair condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital, and her husband Jacob was in good condition Tuesday night.

Joseph P. Martinez, 34, of 2421 So. 14th, driver of the car which collided with the Balzer vehicle was in fair condition at Lincoln General Hosital where he was being held for observation.

Lt. Bob Myers of the Lincoln Police Dept. said Martinez was westbound on O and turning left at 2nd street when his vehicle was in collison with the car driven by Balzer. Balzer was eastbound on O St.

Both cars were demolished.

Two Hurt In Accident At 48th And Holdrege

A two car accident at 48th and Holdrege Tuesday evening sent two persons to St. Elizabeth Hospital where they were treated and released, police said.

Andrew M. Mueller, 16, of 1025 Groveland was southbound on 48th when his vehicle was in collision with a car driven by Henry L. Melicher, 63, of Denton, as Melicher, northbound on 48th, was making a left hand turn onto Holdrege.

Melicher & Beth McHugh, 58, of 1325 No. 29, a passenger in the Melicher car, received minor injuries.

Immunization Survey Scheduled Next Week

An immunization survey of Lincoln will be conducted Aug. 18 and 19, according to the City Health Department.

Purpose of the survey is to determine, through a random sampling, the percentage of Lincolnites who have been vaccinated against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox.

27 Counties Get Federal Aid Due To Adverse Weather Conditions

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman Tuesday designated 27 Nebraska counties as disaster areas because of adverse weather conditions, the Governor's Office reported.

The secretary signed the designations at a meeting with Gov. Frank Morrison is Washington.

Two separate blocks are involved in the disaster designations.

Thirteen of the counties received the designation because of the severe drouth conditions this summer. Their designation will permit the release of diverted acres in these counties for haying and grazing purposes.

Additional Request

The counties are: Franklin, Webster, Nuckolls, Clay, Hamilton, York, Fillmore, Thayer, Saline, Jefferson, Gage, Lancaster and Pawnee.

(Later Tuesday the governor requested that four more counties be added to the 13 designated as disaster drouth areas: Richardson, Nemaha, Johnson and Otoe. Their designation has not yet been approved by Freeman.)

The remaining 14 counties will be eligible for emergency loans under Section 321 of the Farmers Home Administratio Act.

The designation for these counties was made because of extensive damage and losses to crops, pastures and farm buildings as a result of a series of hail storms and a continued shortage of agricultural credit resulting from adverse weather conditions over the past few years.

The counties are: Banner, Box Butte, Chase, Cheyenne, Dawes, Deuel, Garden, Keith, Kimball, Morrill, Perkins, Scotts Bluff, Sheridan and Sioux.

All of the 14 counties were designated for emergency loans from September 21, 1962, through June 30, 1963, because of substantial crop damage in September, 1962.

The designation was extended from June 30, 1963 to June 30, 1964 because of substantial damage and loss to 1963 crops as a result of freezes, hail storms, drought and disease.

Many of these counties have again sustained significant crop losses this year due to hail storms.

As a result of this finding by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Secretary Freeman authorized the emergency loans for the 14 counties through June 30, 1965.

State ASC Will Take Next Step To Aid Stricken Areas

The designation of 13 Nebraska counties as disaster areas by the U.S. Department of Agriculture because of severe drouth conditions will next require a meeting of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee to set a minimum fee for pasturing and haying on diverted acres or conservation reserve land, according to Joseph Trenak, state ASC executive officer.

Tresnak explained that the procedure for farmers interested in utilizing the diverted or "CR" land under disaster status would be for the farmer to first make a request to his county ASC committee for approval.

Upon giving approval to the individual farmer, the county committee will also establish the price the farmer will be required to pay for the grazing or hay that he takes from the diverted acres. Tresnak said.

Tresnak pointed out in a statement released by the ASC office that the use of diverted acres for pasture and hay will not apply to 14 other counties named Tuesday as being eligible for emergency loans by the Farmers Home Administration.

Midwest Building Muscle

TO ENFORCE DEMANDS

Washington (UPI) — A bipartisan bloc, with enough muscle to enforce its demands for a bigger share of federal spending, took shape in Congress Tuesday.

Senators from 12 Midwestern states adopted the plan —proposed by Gov. Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska, chairman of the Midwest Governors Conference, and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio — at a meeting here July 24.

The 125 House members from the area endorsed the idea at a meeting with the governors and senators Tuesday.

Precedent

Michigan Gov. George Romney told the group there was precedent for the planned pressure organization. New England states, those on the West Coast, and in the South all have done so and with good effect, he said. Romney is a Republican; Morrison a Democrat.

The midwesterners want more federal research and development contracts assigned to firms in their area, but Romney urged them not to concentrate on defense contracts to the exclusion of all else.

There was no shortage of suggestions.

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, a Democrat, urged the need for working in cooperation with Canada to divert more water into the Great Lakes.

Health Center

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., cited the $78 million environmental health center which the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) wants to build in the Washington area. The House Appropriations Committee on which he serves deleted $1.5 million requested to plan the project, and directed HEW to investigate Midwestern sites, but he predicted the Senate will restore the funds and that in conference with the House the Senate decision will prevail.

"It should be in Cincinnati," he said.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., proposed midwesterners unite in seeking an informational center for laser, the science of concentrated light.

Reps. J. Edward Roush, D-Ind., Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., and Charles A. Halleck, Ind., House Republican leader, stressed the need for a working partnership between universities and business and financial interests. Such complexes, rich in reserves of knowledge and money, are prevalent on both coasts and attract the multi-billion dollar federal contracts, they said.

More Initiative

Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich., recommended more initiative by businessmen. He said a survey showed that of 1,000 Michigan firms eligible to seek National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) contracts, only 40% were registered with that agency.

A six-member executive committee, with equal representation from the House, Senate, and the governors conference will meet at Minneapolis Sept. 9 to organize the Midwestern bloc and report back at a later meeting of the group here.

Karth and Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, will call a meeting to select the House committee member, and Lausche will arrange for the selection of the Senate members. Morrison and Romney will represent the governors.

One Board Urged For All Top Learning Units

The Legislative Council Higher Education Study Committee Tuesday directed its chairman to draft two proposals aimed at consolidating all public institutions of higher learning in Nebraska under a single administrative board.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, committee chairman, declined to say what the two specific bills would contain other than to explain that one probably would be stronger than the other and approach implementation in a different manner.

He said he plans to discuss the matter with the attorney general to determine what type of board could be established within the framework of the state constitution.

The committee wil consider the two proposals in September and take final action at that time on what it will recommend to the 1965 Legislature.

OU Debate

The committee further proposed that a television debate be arranged between it and the University of Omaha Board of Regents to discuss the merits of including OU in the state system.

OU is presently a municipally-owned institution supported entirely by Omaha residents. Stromer noted there were once 50 municipally-owned universities throughout the country, but now there are only two-Omaha and Akron, Ohio.

OU regents have told the committee they did not want to be included in the state system, but Stromer said he believes the people of Omaha would prefer having it included because of rising costs.

The committee believes the matter should be submitted to a vote of the people.

It was also agreed by the committee to invite University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin to its next meeting to see if and why NU objects to individual faculty members consulting with state senators.

Continuous Contact

Stromer said the committee firmly believes there should be "important and continuous contact between the faculty and the committee."

On the matter of a single administrative agency for all public institutions of higher learning, the committee directed Stromer to study three areas:

—University complex type of system which would confederate all state teachers colleges as branches of the University of Nebraska.

—An advisory commission on higher education which would make recommendations to the governor and Legislature.

—A constitutional amendment which would allow a coordinating body to regulate public higher education in Nebraska.

Present Setup

At the present time the University of Nebraska is governed by an elected board of regents; the state colleges are administered by an appointed State Normal Board, and the four junior colleges are under the general supervision of the State Board of Education.

"The committee is ready to take the bull by the horns and present to Nebraska a potent and firm proposal for re-evaluation of all its public institutions of higher education," Stromer said.

Bowen Hits Words That Widen Split

Red Cloud—Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud said Tuesday that reports coming out of Omaha concerning redistricting and taxes "only create a larger breech between eastern and western Nebraska."

He referred to a statement from Sen. George Syas of Omaha who said his section of the state needs full voting strength if it is to continue to defeat sales and income tax proposals, and if it is to get its fair share of such revenue as gasoline taxes.

Bowen said the comments "still remind us of the 22-13-51 factor—that is, that 22% of the people reside on farms, earn less than 13% of the state's income, and are forced to pay 51% of the state's taxes."

The Red Cloud senator also noted that the "western Nebraska farmer ships his livestock to Omaha and takes whatever the packer is willing to pay—and in the last two years it has been pitifully low.

"These livestock producers are the source that made Omaha the largest livestock market in the world, yet by their property requirements they are forced to pay the biggest portion of the property tax," Bowen said.

"Again," he continued, "these same people are at the mercy of the manufacturers when it comes to buying machinery, repairs, and products produced in industrial centers. They are forced to pay the price set by the manufacturers.

"Rural Nebraska is a trade territory of all first class cities and metropolitan areas, and roads represent one of the most essential factors in getting these people to and from such places of business.

"It is my hope that we can retain our rightful portion of the gasoline tax to build farm-to-market roads in western Nebraska," Bowen declared.

Miller's Gateway Theft Nets $500

Police Tuesday were investigating the theft of $500 from the safe at the Miller and Paine store in the Gateway Shopping Center.

Officials said the safe was equipped with a time lock.

Individual Bonds Needed By Game License Vendors

Vendors of hunting and fishing licenses for the State Game Commission must be bonded individually, an attorney general's opinion said Tuesday.

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen had asked if a blanket bond could be issued to cover those authorized by the commissions to sell the licenses. He noted it would be considerably cheaper than individual ones.

The opinion said the courts have held the legislature intended such vendors be bond individually. It observed they are not employes of the state as such.

Elm Disease Battle Kept Under Control

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Since the discovery of Dutch Elm disease in Lincoln a year ago this week, 80 positive cases have been located through the city.

City Forester Don Guinan said Tuesday the first year's battle has been relatively successful.

"With no control measures (the eight-year-old trimming program and the spraying program inaugurated this year), this number could have been over 1,000 trees."

100% Cooperation

Guinan said that under the present control program future losses can be held to less than one-half of one per cent from Dutch Elm disease.

The forester said home owners have cooperated 100% in the removal of dead elm stumps, woodpiles and dead elm trees under the disease-control program.

More than 200 notices were delivered to homeowners regarding these potential breeding places for the bark beetle, carrier of the fatal disease to American elm trees.

In contrast to the Lincoln losses with a control program, Guinan noted that Kansas City lost 5,000 elms on city property alone in one year. Tree removal cost can average $100 per tree.

Well Spent

Guinan said time and money has been well spent and will enable the city to retain its present elms until other trees can reach the age where they will beautify our streets and lawns.

He suggested a greater variety of trees is needed in Lincoln and encouraged homeowners to plant at least one tree between now and Nebraska's centennial year, 1967.

69 Arborists Licensed To Control Elm Disease

Arborist certificates have been issued to 69 men under Lincoln's licensed arborist ordinance in connection with Dutch Elm disease control.

City Forester Don Guinan said 27 representatives of private firms, 10 park supervisors and four University of Nebraska supervisors qualified for first-class certificates.

Additionally, 11 privately-employed persons and 17 park employes qualified for the second-class certificates for spraying work only.

The first-class license certifies the holder for all phases of Dutch Elm disease control, including both tree trimming and removal and spraying.

Guinan said the program "has been extremely helpful in the control of Dutch Elm disease."

'Accurate Information'

"Accurate information on the Dutch Elm disease as well as other diseases has been one of the greatest benefits of this ordinance to the homeowners," he said. "Licensed arborists know the facts and procedures."

He said the licensing ordinance has "definitely discouraged several fly-by-night' outfits from attempting to operate in Lincoln."

In qualifying the licensed arborists by examination, the Park Department conducted an eight-week school, including 45 hours in which University extension personnel participated, and 30 hours of class work directed by Guinan.

Before the licensing ordinance, average attendance at the monthly meetings for treemen was 16 persons, but they now average 40, Guinan said.

Guinan said the qualifying examinations were passed by 69 of the 79 who took them.

Authorized

Licensed arborists under the ordinance are entitled to display an authorized decal on their equipment.

The arborist licensing ordinance was approved by the City Council in connection with the Dutch Elm disease program.

Strauss Co. Sued By Ex-Employee

Paul Bouma, 3943 Pace Blvd., Tuesday filed a suit in U.S. District Court against Strauss Bros. Construction Co. for damages of $2,115.20 under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Bouma, employed as a carpenter by Strauss Bros. from April, 1962, to March, 1963, alleges unpaid overtime pay and liquidated damages in this amount.

The suit alleges the defendant firm comes within the meaning of the federal act and should compensate its employes for working time over a 40-hour week.

Buster's Club Is Closed By Judge

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin Tuesday issued a permanent injunction which closed the Buster's Club at 1144 Cornhusker.

Judge Ronin issued by default the injunction sought by the City of Lincoln when the defendants failed to appear.

The City alleged the club was operating in violation of the city's Municipal Code and was operating as a disorderly house.

Due to the defendants' failure to appear, Judge Ronin made no determination as to whether the club was operating as a disorderly house as defined by city code.

Burney Declares Morrison 'Out Of Focus' On Beef Issue

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney declared Tuesday that Gov. Frank Morrison is simply "out of focus again on the beef picture" in maintaining that the Johnson administration had requested operating funds for the proposed beef research center at the Hastings Depot.

"If he were informed on the matter he would know that the Bureau of the Budget, after nearly two years of stalling, finally approved the transfer of the land to the Department of Agriculture, just within the past several days," Burney said.

"The Governor should know that the Budget Bureau would not allow the Agriculture Department to ask for funds for an installation to which it does not have title," the Republican gubernatorial candidate continued.

Not Completed

Burney said the transfer has not yet been formally completed, nor will it be for a few more days.

If the governor "had taken the trouble to inform himself during his many trips to Washington, instead of simply trying to make political capital out of this worthwhile project, he would know the facts," Burney stated.

The lieutenant governor said Morrison should read last Saturday's Congressional Record to note remarks on the subject made by Sen. Spessard Holland D-Fla., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee.

He quoted from the Record which showed Holland included the proposed livestock research center as one of nine requests for laboratories which did not have budget approval in advance.

Burney also charged Morrison was "off-base" in attacking Sen. Roman Hruska's comments on the Senate action referring the proposed research center back to the USDA for study.

No Testimony

Hruska, he said, was "simply reporting the facts" in relating the Johnson administration had never presented testimony on behalf of the beef research center to appropriations or agriculture committees of either the House or Senate.

The GOP candidate said he agreed with Morrison's comment that action was needed rather than study, but added the "required action must come from the Democratic administration of which Gov. Morrison is part."

Hruska Claims Poverty Bill Endangers Cattle Business

Republican City (AP)— Sen. Roman Hruska declared Tuesday night that the cattle industry in the Midwest is threatened by a Democratic administration plan to subsidize domestic competitors in "the so-called region of Appalachia."

Hruska said the plan "has been advertised to us as part of the so-called war on poverty. The President has recommended to Congress a long string of special financial grants and other forms of assistance to the area along the Appalachian mountains, on a preferential and disciminatory basis, to be paid by taxpayers in other parts of the country . . ."

The Nebraska Republican said he will propose an amendment to strike out of the legislation any authority for the government to subsidize pasture improvement or the cattle industry in Appalachia.

Hruska spoke here before a meeting of the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce. In prepared remarks he said the present proposal is for the government to put up 80 per cent of the cost of pasture improvements.

"Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. told the congressional committees that income to farmers in the Appalachia region from cattle production could be increased through this means by about $230 million annually," Hruska said. "That would amount to about one billion pounds of cattle on the hoof—equivalent in poundage to one million head of fed steers."

"The whole bill should be defeated," the senator said. "But even if we can't muster the votes to reject it as a whole, at least we should knock out the portion of the bill which is most harmful to our own people."

Banner Co Bank Issued Charter

State Banking Director Henry Ley announced Tuesday he has issued a charter for establishment of a state bank at Harrisburg, Neb., in sparsely populated Banner County.

It will be called the Banner County Bank and will have $50,000 in capital stock, $25,000 in surplus stock and $25,000 in undivided profits.

Leo Shirk of Kimball, Neb., will be president of the bank, and Ronald Sopher of Harrisburg will be cashier.

WATERSHED PROPOSAL IS DELAYED

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday deferred action until next week on a proposal to annex the Ashland precinct to the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District.

At the Aug. 4 meeting, Robert Crosby, general counsel for Salt-Wahoo, told the board that annexation of Ashland precinct is necessary to supply complete protection for Salt Creek.

A communication was received Tuesday from Ed Ballou, who owns some 120 acres which are in question for inclusion in the annexation.

He indicated that he "definitely wants to have" his 120 acres included within the boundaries of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District even though his land also is included in the Clear Creek Conservancy District, and despite double taxation resulting from inclusion in both districts.

A letter from Clear Creek Drainage District president Vern Stewart also supported the Salt-Wahoo project "as long as they are assured of an outlet for their water."

Aids Added

New Delhi (AP)—All-weather navigation aids, including an instrument landing system, have been installed at New Delhi's Palam Airport. Some incoming jet flights have been rerouted in the past because of poor visibility during heavy monsoon rains.

SBA May Block Deal Involving Lincoln Firm

Houston, Tex. (AP) —The Small Business Administration and Gulf-Southwest Capital Corp., Houston, appear on a collision course.

Eugene P. Foley, SBA administrator, said Monday his agency is opposing the sale of assets by Gulf-Southwest Capital to Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance Co., Lincoln, Neb.

George A. Butler, board chairman of Gulf-Southwest, announced that his company will put the exchange to a vote of stockholders Sept. 11.

Butler, in a statement distributed at a news conference, predicted the asset-stock exchange would be approved by 80% of the company's 4,000 stockholders. The proposed stock exchange has been approved by stockholders of Lincoln Liberty Life.

Foley said the proposed exchange would violate the Small Business Investment Act under which Gulf-Southwest is licensed to make loans to small businessmen.

"If both companies vote to accept the recommendations of their respective boards of directors, then my agency will fight to prevent the proposed transaction even if it takes years in the courts to do so," Foley said.

He addressed the Southwest Regional Association of Small Business Investment Companies.

"We will be ready to meet with the SBA at any time at their convenience after we have the 80% approval," Butler said. "We will take whatever steps appear appropriate to carry out the will of our shareholders."

Asked what punitive power the SBA has, if any, Foley said the action "can be stopped by the courts."

3 Redistricting Proposals Okayed By School Reorganization Group

The State School District Reorganization Committee Tuesday approved three redistricting petition proposals, gave qualified approval to two more and turned down three.

Petition proposals approved were:

Boyd County: dissolve District 28 and attach portions to District 17 (Spencer) and 36 (Lynch).

Dakota County: dissolve District 30 and attach the area to District 11 (South Sioux City-Dakota City).

Lincoln and Custer counties: dissolve District 132 in Lincoln County, and attach the area to District 89 (Arnold) in Custer County.

The two petitions given qualified approval were:

Nemaha County: detach a portion of District 13 and attach the area to District 3 (Peru).

Scotts Bluff County: dissolve District 5 and a portion of District 33 and create a new district.

The three proposals receiving non-approval were:

Colfax County: dissolve Districts 31 and 62 and attach the area to District 30.

Knox County: dissolve District 129 and attach the area to District 86-R (Bloomfield).

Scotts Bluff County: School Districts 50, 29 and 14 and a portion of District 33 and create a new district.

The committee set September 9 as the date for its next meeting.

Betrothal Revealed

Of special interest to campus as well as town circles is the announcement being made this morning of the betrothal of Ens. Virginia Gail Wheaton, daughter of Mrs. Rosanna Wheaton of Lincoln, and of James S. Wheaton of Ft. Lee, N.J., to Lt. Donald James Hallager, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Hallager of Kenosha, Wis.

A June graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride-elect is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and of Mortar Board honorary society for senior women. She currently is stationed with the Navy at Newport, R.I.

Lt. Hallager, a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

There Are No Complaints In Suburbia

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Inherent in the constitutional rights of every citizen is the privilege to complain—and we have noticed that most people, including us, exercise this freedom regularly.

Take for instance the attitude of people during the 100 degree plus weather — they complained. But when the mercury did an olympic jacknife back into the thermometer, what did everyone do.

Well, for the most part, they registered complaints about having to don a sweater for the cooler hours. At the risk of seeming too blithe about the situation, we would venture a guess that about the only thing immune to complaints recently is the social activity in suburbia.

There have certainly been no cynical remarks about a lack of things to do at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schlegel and their children, Alan and Brenda. They were among the weekend guests at the home of Mr. Schlegel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Schlegel, of Milford for a family get-together.

Special impetus for the reunion was the arrival of Mr. Schlegel's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Miller of Bothelle, Wash., who currently are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Rehor of Seward.

Another Lincoln family who attended the reunion was Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schlegel and son of Lincoln.

Acrophobia is the morbid dread of being at a great height, but we doubt seriously if anyone of the Henry Willemsen family suffers from this.

Mr. and Mrs. Willemsen and their children left Tuesday morning for a week's vacation at the mile-high city of Denver, Colo.

The guest room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren W. Wilson was in use last week, and the occupant was Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Gertrude Davis of Garden City, Kan.

While Mrs. Davis was visiting in Lincoln, her son, Mark, joined Mr. Wilson on a trek to Camp Cedars near Fremont, where they participated in the Camp's activities.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frohardt are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Frohardt and their children, Kathy and David of Lafayette, Ind.

The Indiana guests leave for home today after a five days' visit.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

An interesting sidelight of many vacations are the names of the towns a traveler encounters. A great deal of speculation can be given as to how each town got its particular name—such as Kettle Falls, Wash. Returning from there last week were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mathis and their children, Shelley and Linda, who were the guests of Mr. Mathis' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mathis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maly and their children, Rhonda, Randy, Reed, and Rory, plan to leave Monday for Niobrara State Park, where they will spend their vacation with a multitude of activities.

It Takes A Special Effort To Gladden Special Children

What does it take to make a child happy? A pair of ice skates or a tricyle, perhaps? Almost every Nebraska youngster numbers these among his collection of toys, but for a foster child—it would be as if he asked for the moon.

Or it would have been up to three years ago when the Mrs. JayCees of Nebraska realized the plight of foster children in the state and began to do something about it.

Children who are placed in foster homes are well cared for, well fed and clothed—and many are given love and affection for the first time in their short lives—but the extras which most children take for granted and which most parents eagerly provide their children, are beyond the financial ability of foster parents.

Although an adequate amount for the child's care is paid by the welfare department to the foster parents who open their homes and hearts to these youngsters—desperately in need of family life, not an institution — yet there never is enough money for the extras. And it is that little "extra" which often helps start a youngster on the road to normal, happy childhood.

It is here that the Mrs. JayCees step in—to buy a tricycle for a youngster suffering from cerebral palsy, who needs the vehicle to help develop his weakened muscles; to pay for private tutoring for a child so emotionally disturbed by a disrupted life that he couldn't keep pace with his schoolmates; to provide a "walker" for a child recovering from orthopedic surgery.

Dolls, ice skates, a catcher's mitt—these are the easy ones. But it takes insight to realize that music lessons for a long-neglected 15-year-old will mean the difference between a child unable even to communicate with others, and one who develops into a normal, responsive youngster.

The Mrs. JayCees, with justifiable pride in their project, soon will embark on another year of raising funds for the state's foster children. Planning a fall fashion show, a benefit for the project, to be held Tuesday evening, Aug. 25, at the Hotel Cornhusker are the committee members pictured.

Mrs. Dale LeBaron of Lincoln was the first chairman of the state-wide project, which in its first year raised $1,290. Current co-chairmen are Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. John Zimmer, both of Lincoln.

Kay Liebers, A Busy August Bride-Elect

A very popular bride-elect has been Miss Kay Liebers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Liebers, whose marriage to Ray Hesse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hesse of Alliance, will take place on Saturday, Aug. 15.

* * *

One of the recent courtesies for Miss Liebers was the dinner for which Mrs. C. K. Elliott and her son, Stuart, were host and hostess on Monday evening at the University Club. The guest list included members of the families and two out of town members of the bridal party, Miss Carol Dixon of Trenton, Tenn., and Miss Linda Griffith of Columbia, Miss. Following the dinner Miss Liebers was presented with a hostess gift.

* * *

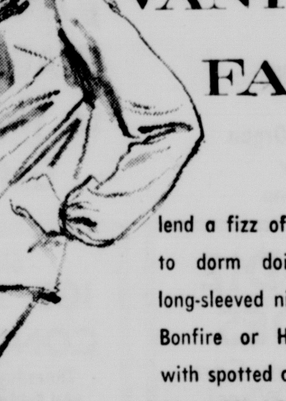

Miss Liebers also was an honoree on Wednesday, Aug. 5, when Miss E. N. Thompson, her daughter, Miss Kit Thompson, Mrs. Oliver Hallam, and her daughter, Mrs. Roger Reiling, entertained at the home of Mrs. Hallam. The guests were invited for an informal evening, and a kitchen shower for the bride-elect.

And on Tuesday evening, Aug. 4, Miss Mary Ann Behlen and her mother, Mrs. Walter Behlen of Columbus, paid prenuptial courtesy to Miss Liebers when they were hostesses at a crystal shower at the University Club.

Prenuptial courtesies also have filled the calendar in recent weeks for August bride-elect, Miss Billie Smith, who will become the bride of Steve Spahnle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Spahnle, on Aug. 22.

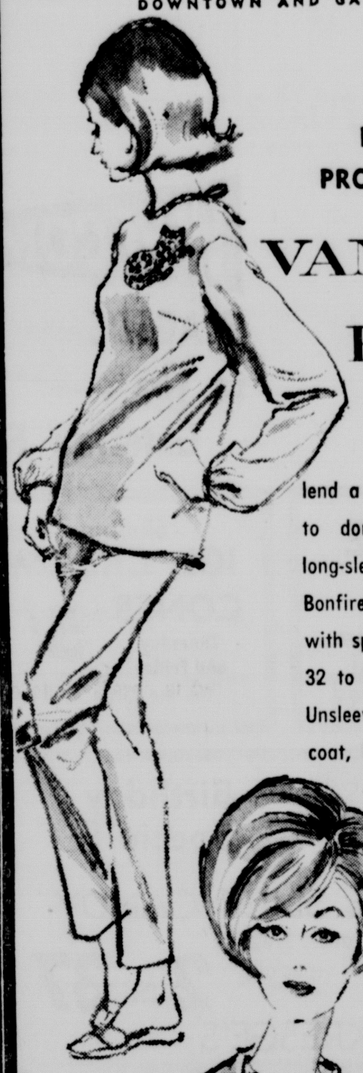

Last Sunday afternoon, the soon-to-be bride was presented a kitchen shower at a party for which Miss Leanne Beers, Mrs. Ted Beers and Mrs. L. G. Beers were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Ted Beers. The guests included feminine members of the bride-elect's family.

Miss Smith, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Smith, was honored recently at a personal shower given by Miss Janet Zastro and Miss Phyllis Handsaker, who entertained Beta Sigma Phi sorority sisters of the honoree at the home of Miss Handsaker.

Dear Abby

See An Attorney

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a painter. A month ago, while painting the house of a very rich woman, the ladder collapsed (it was her ladder) and I fell to the ground. I broke my leg in several places. Since then I've had no income. I lost $600 in pay, and my doctor bill is $150. I asked the woman at least to help me pay my doctor bill and she said her insurance didn't cover that kind of accident and she isn't responsible for my bills.

She is so cheap she told me to buy a box of plaster and make my own cast! She said I was foolish for going to a doctor. She came over with two pain pills she bought at an Army surplus store and said they were just as good as prescription pills. Everyone tells me I am nuts if I don't sue her. She is far from poor, Abby. She owns several houses in town. What should I do?

OUT OF WORK

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR OUT: See a lawyer at once! If you can't afford one, go to your local Legal Aid Society. If you broke your leg on HER ladder, while painting HER house—insurance or no insurance, I'll bet SHE hasn't a leg to stand on.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am an elderly man and have been dating a middle-aged widow for some time. I do not drive, so when I invite her out for dinner her son usually comes by and picks me up. The lady is already in the front seat beside her son, and I have to sit in the back seat all by myself. There is plenty of room for the three of us in the front. Otherwise I think the lady should sit in the back seat with me. I would appreciate your opinion. ANNOYED

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ANNOYED: Don't look a gift ride in the seat.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a handsome man in his early forties. We have been married only a few months. I knew he had false teeth when I married him, but I had never seen him with his teeth out. Soon after we were married, he started taking his teeth out the minute he came home. Now he never wears them around the house. If we go somewhere, he won't put his teeth in until the last minute, and as soon as we get home he takes them out again.

I told him he should see his dentist if he is having trouble, but he says he has already spent enough money on false teeth and he doesn't want to spend any more. His dentist is supposed to be one of the best in town. We have a small income but I think this is important. I hate to nag him about it, but I don't know how much longer I can take this. He looks like an old man with his teeth out.

A BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Call your husband's dentist and tell him what you've told me. If he's one of the "best" in town, he will probably insist on adjusting the dentures without charge so they'll be comfortable and wearable.

Opening lead — jack of hearts.

Dear Mr. Becker: We had a big argument on this hand where South was in four spades. West led a heart. South took it with the ace, played a spade to the ace, and then led a low spade, won with the king. Later South lost a spade to the queen and a diamond trick, but he wound up making four spades.

The argument was over whether South played the spades right or whether he was just lucky. Shouldn't he have finessed the ten of spades at trick two? I know he would have gone down if he had done this, but wouldn't that be the winning play in the long run? Sincerely, your Constant Reader.

Well, the answer is that South was right on both counts. He was right on the actual hand, since he made the contract, and he was also right so far as percentages are concerned.

Problems like this are susceptible to arithmetical computation. Since declarer's sole aim is to avoid the loss of more than two trump tricks, if possible, he starts out by ignoring all spade combinations where the play of the ten or the ace is immaterial. These would include those hands where the trumps are divided 6-0, 5-1, or 3-3.

The pertinent hands are those where the spades are divided 4-2, with West having the doubleton.

West's doubleton can consist of K-9, K-8, K-7, K-6, Q-9, Q-8, Q-7, Q-6 (in which case the ace play is better than the ten), or it can consist of 9-8, 9-7, 9-6, 8-7, 8-6, 7-6 (in which case the ten play is better than the ace). The only other case, where West has the K-Q alone, is not important because either play makes the contract.

Since there are eight pertinent cases where the ace play wins, and only six cases where the ten play wins, it is better in the long run to play the ace and then a low spade.

Why Grow Old?

Water Won't Make You Fat

Josephine Lowman

You may be water-logged—but water won't make you fat. Many reducers have the idea that a drastic cutback on their consumption of liquid is necessary in order to lose weight.

Water has no calories and therefore cannot possibly add to your fatty deposits. There are some conditions in which an abnormal amount of water is retained in the tissues. This is a problem for your physician because there may be abnormalities which cause this and they should be investigated medically.

More Salt

Salt has some influence on water retention in the body. Therefore, when reducing you might restrict your salt intake to some extent. However, remember that during hot weather we need more salt than we do in cold weather. We also require more liquids since we lose so much water in perspiration. The average reducer need not be concerned about water and salt.

Exercise is so important if you wish to acquire or keep a lovely figure! It is essential to the silhouette as well as to health. Many of the best reducing exercises are also relaxing. These are the stretchy kind.

The following exercise is splendid for slimming the waist and the diaphragm. Stand tall with your feet separated. Raise your arms overhead and clasp your hands. Keep your elbows stiff as you twist as far as you can to the left. Now twist to the right. It is essential that you go as far in each direction as comfortable and that you keep your elbows straight. ALSO, remember to push toward the ceiling with your hands as you twist.

Stretch

Here's another beautifying stretch for you. Stand facing the wall, feet fairly close to the wall. Bend your elbows and place your hands on the wall in front of your chest. Now slide your fingers (of both hands) up the wall as far as you possibly can. Reach for that last inch. When your fingers are as far up the wall as they can move, hold this position while you count to six, slowly. Return hands to the in-front-of-chest position and continue.

If you would like to have my tested waist slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Nebr.

Negroes Riot In Two N.J. Cities

. . . PATERSON, ELIZABETH

United Press International

Hundreds of rioting Negroes clashed with police, looted stores, and exploded molotov cocktails in Paterson and Elizabeth, N.J., Tuesday night and Wednesday morning in a one-two punch at two of New Jersey's largest cities.

Carloads of young Negores roamed the waterfront section of Elizabeth, hurling gasoline bombs into taverns and stores. At least one pedestrian was injured when he was struck by a bottle hurled from a moving car.

The disorders in Eliz beth broke out early Wednesday after police had quelled two outbursts of violence in Paterson.

Fifty extra police were called on duty in Elizabeth to handle the explosive situation. "Everything is going wild," one police official said

Taverns Hit

Half a dozen taverns were hit with molotiv cocktails and several clothing stores were broken into and looted.

Police said one Negro was arrested for robbing clothes from Moe Kutner's clothing store. Firemen had to be called out to put out a small fire in the 168 Club after it was hit by a molotov cocktail.

In Paterson, several hundred Negroes hurled stones and bottles in the streets and clashed with more than 100 steel-helmeted police in two disturbances that were quelled before midnight. City officials, however, ordered the entire police force on standby alert and set up a meeting with civil rights leaders for Wednesday.

Arthur Jones, a Negro and Republican candidate for third ward alderman, blamed the Paterson rioting on "fat landlords living in rich neighborhoods, leeching off Negroes." He also contended that Negro children had nothing to look forward to in the city.

At least three Negroes were picked up in Paterson, one was booked for attempting to strike a police officer. The other two were being questioned in connection with the theft of television sets from a looted store.

Housing Blamed

William Klein, secretary of the local NAACP chapter and candidate for Alderman, charged that "poor housing was the cause of the riot" in Paterson.

Mayor Frank X. Graves ordered all taverns in the neighborhood in Paterson—about 25 of them—closed.

The taverns were "breeding places of trouble," Graves said.

Starkweather Case Chapter Closes

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

One of the first chapters in the celebrated Charles Starkweather murder case was closed for good Tuesday, six years after it was written in bloody headlines.

Demolition crews began ripping apart the home of the mass killer's ex-sweetheart and scene of three of the 11 slayings attributed to the former teen-age garbage collector.

Only a few spectators stood by as a huge bulldozer plowed into the front part of the one-story wood-frame building at 924 Belmont St. in the northwest edge of the city.

There were no tears.

The dilapidated residence will be completely removed to make way for a more pleasant sight—a million dollar shopping center to be known as Belmont Plaza.

But some people here say the memory will never be removed.

"This town will always remember Charles Starkweather and those terrible murders. Removing the material memories will help some, but it can't blot out the imprint of death," said a middle-age housewife.

The run-down structure was "home sweet home" to Caril Ann Fugate — Starkweather's former girlfriend — her mother, step-father and two-year-old sister.

The bodies of the mother and step-father — Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett — and their small daughter were uncovered in two outbuildings at the rear of the home on Jan. 27, 1958.

The discovery of the bodies touched off an areawide search for Miss Fugate and Starkweather. The dragnet later spread nationwide as a string of bodies began turning up.

Miss Fugate was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Nebraska Women's Reformatory at York in connection with the death of Robert Jensen of Bennet. Starkweather was executed.

Mice Get Chance For 6-Day Spree

. . . BUT THEY'RE ONLY SOCIAL DRINKERS

Bar Harbor, Maine (AP)—Observation of teetotalers and moderate "social drinkers" among mice suggest there may be genetic factors in human alcoholism, a scientist reported Tuesday.

The evidence came out at a 6-day-long scientific "cocktail party" staged for two genetically different groups of mice at the world famed Jackson Laboratory for hereditary research.

Dr. John L. Fuller, a Jackson zoologist, told about it during a medical genetics course being conducted for 100 doctors and other scientists by the laboratory and Johns Hopkins University. The course is sponsored by the Natonal Foundation, the March-of-Dimes organization.

No Holds Barred

During the six-day potential spree, the rodents were given leave to do no holds barred drinking at six "bottles" of alcohol mixed with water. The alcoholic content ranged from one-half per cent to 16%.

One group, a strain of black mice, proved to be moderately heavy imbibers. At least, they kept sipping away at intervals at all the bottles, with a final tendency to do most of their nipping at the higher-strength bottles. They drank about one sixth of their body weight in alcohol each day.

However, none showed signs of getting soused.

Indeed, after a related experiment when they were "forced" to do all their drinking for a day in a five-minute period, they developed a temporary aversion to booze, even though they got quite drunk in the meantime.

This showed, Dr. Fuller said, that they were not "compulsive drinkers.

Meanwhile, the other group of mice, a light brown strain called "DBA", proved to be real teetotalers. They virtually ignored all the booze bottles after taking tentative sips. They turned instead to pure water which was also available.

Inborn Factors

Fuller said various tests other than the drinking choice one suggested inborn genetic factors were involved in the differences in drinking behavior noted.

And he added, with respect to man:

"While the heavier drinking group of mice can not be classed as alcoholics, I don't think we can rule out the possibility that other mammals, including men, may show (genetic) differences in ability to handle or consume substances like alcohol.

"Probably, heredity factors play a relatively minor role in the pattern of human alcoholism, but in some individuals these factors might be crucial."

However, a psychiatrist at the meeting, Dr. Charles R. Shaw of the Hawthorn Psychiatric Center, Northville, Mich., said he believed Dr. Fuller was to conservative on this score.

"Psychiatrists don't have all the answers to human alcholism," he said. "Maybe the genticists do."

LAFB CREW WINS TEST

A Lincoln Air Force Base B-47 combat crew has won top honors in the Second Air Force's emergency war order knowledge competition at Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

The 307th Bomb Wing crew was high among 13 bases, including Offutt in Omaha, in the B-47 category question-answer session.

A base spokesman said the competition staged one team against another with the winner determined by who could answer the most questions first.

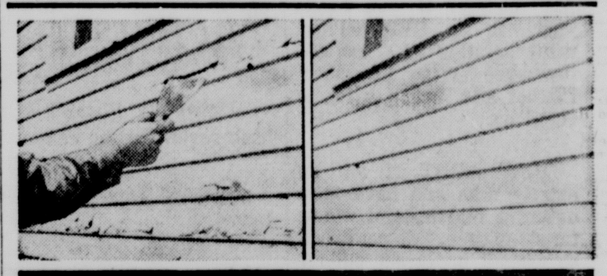

The Lincoln team included Capts. Eugene T. Hickman, Harold W. Todd and Laurie A. Bunten.

Soshnik Will Represent NU At Meeting With President

Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik will represent the University of Nebraska at a special luncheon and meeting with President Lyndon Johnson at the White House in Washington Thursday.

The meeting, called by the President, will bring together presidents and chancellors of leading state universities throughout the United States. The program will consist of a luncheon at 1 p.m., followed by an afternoon of discussion groups.

"A number of state universities are engaged in important studies of the development of their states and regions over the next 20 years or so," said President Johnson in extending the invitation to Chancellor Hardin. "I am deeply interested in these studies."

Dr. Soshnik will represent Chancellor Hardin who will be unable to attend because of a conflict with a meeting of the executive committee of the Council on Higher Education in the American Republics in Minneapolis. This meeting involves a number of rectors of Latin-American universities and other leading educators from the United States.

Defense Dept. Says Barry's Statement 'False'

Washington (UPI)—The Defense Department said Tuesday that Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater made a "totally false" statement in contending that, "Our deliverable nuclear capacity may be cut down by 90% in the next decade."

The Arizona senator made a statement to that effect Monday in a speech to the National Association of Counties, adding that the present defense leadership had an "utter disregard for new weapons."

President Johnson addressed that same group Tuesday, and in an apparent reference to Goldwaters' charges, declared: "The world knows—and all Americans can know—that the United States is the strongest nation in history. And all of our plans and all of the work now going on will keep it that way."

Preparedness

Speaking at the White House, the President said that "we have increased by $28 billion our investment in preparedness in the last four fiscal years."

He added, "Our resources are committed, our sacrifices are made, our vigil is maintained so that there shall be no win for aggression in our times."

The Pentagon replied to Goldwater's speech in a statement issued through Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester.

Sylvester said the senator's assertion about a reduction in nuclear capacity was not only without foundation but contrary to the facts."

Twice as Many

"The facts are that in 1970 we will have a capability to deliver on target two and a half times as many warheads as we had in 1961 and a greater number than we have today," the Pentagon statement said.

Calling Goldwater's contention "totally false," the statement laid down an array of facts and statistics which it said detailed the expansion of American nuclear power since January, 1961.

It said the U.S. strategic retaliatory forces must be able to survive the most destructive attack Russia could possibly launch "and then strike back and destroy the enemy's society."

Because the ability to survive and then penetrate enemy defenses is so crucial, the statement said, the Democratic administration has taken "drastic measures" for improvement.

The statement said the administration has increased the number of bombers kept on constant alert from fewer than one-third of the total force to more than one-half. Being on alert means they must be ready to take off in about 15 minutes.

In January 1961 America had only five Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBM's), all based above ground, and just two Polaris missile submarines in the fleet, the statement said.

Sylvester refused to submit to questions on the statement, thus no explanation was officially available about the statement that there were only five ICBM's in January, 1961.

Meat Import Limits Go To Conference Group

Washington (UPI)—Backers of a bill to restrict meat imports reluctantly agreed Tuesday to give Senate and House negotiators a chance at working out a compromise over a controversial consumer-industry issue.

The chief House negotiator said it would be a "miracle" if the conferees could do so.

As it now stands, the likelihood is that President Johnson would feel impelled to veto a Senate-passed measure that would reduce by 30% meat imports now running about 1.7 million pounds a year.

The legislation was added as a rider to a minor House bill affecting import of birds for display purposes. The House had the choice of voting on the Senate amendments directly or going to conference. Administration leaders maneuvered in such a way that the conference route had to be tried first.

Cattle area congressmen demanded assurances Tuesday that the conferees would not bottle up the bill. Chairman Wilbur Mills of the ways and means committee, who said it would be a "miracle" if he and his fellow negotiators could reach a compromise, promised that a conference report of some sort would be brought back to the House, probably by early next week.

"If the House doesn't like what we have done then it can always go back to the Senate amendments," he said.

Rep. William Avery, R-Kan who said he could speak for cattle growers in his state, was openly suspicious.

"The livestock industry is not very happy about what's going on here today, and they're not being fooled," he told the House. "Frankly, I don't think these efforts are going to bear fruit."

Proponents of the restrictive legislation claim that increasing foreign imports of meat have contributed to a drop in prices for livestock growers.

Congressmen opposing the measure said the legislation—which would limit imports of beef, mutton, lamb and veal—would lead to higher prices for the consumer.

Woman, 60, Hangs Over NY Street

New York (AP)—Hundreds of New Yorkers watched a grim and awkward parody of aerial acrobatics 17 stories above 37th St. and 7th Ave. Tuesday, as a woman's life literally hung in the balance.

The spectacular drama began when Mrs. Beatrice Miller, 60, plunged from the roof of an 18-story building at 501 7th Ave. In a one-in-a-million coincidence, her feet crashed through a small window that slanted outward from the 17th floor like the cross stroke of the letter "N."

The impact slammed the window shut and Mrs. Miller's fall was abruptly broken. Her legs were wedged in the window while the rest of her body, arms spread wide, dangled high above the street.

Workers inside the building seized her legs to further secure her until police arrived.

'I Don't Want To Die'

Then began a delicate rescue operation as Mrs. Miller screamed, "I don't want to die, I don't want to die."

Emergency Squad Patrolman James Hannan, 36, crawled from a nearby window and inched his way along a four-inch ledge, secured only by a life line attached to a fire escape. He reached Mrs. Miller but, because of her weight—150 pounds—and the need to cling to the building with one hand, Hannan was unable to do more than reassure the woman.

Eventually, Emergency Squad Patrolman Richard Powers, 39, made his way along the same narrow ledge from the other side of Mrs. Miller.

Using one hand each and clinging to the building with the other, the patrolmen gingerly raised Mrs. Miller's body to the ledge. Then they reopened the broken window and freed her legs. Finally they eased her head first into the building.

Like 20 Years

"The rescue took something over 20 minutes, but it seemed like 20 years," Hannan said.

Mrs. Miller, who lives at Jersey City, suffered only lacerations of the legs.

Entertainers Give Money For Project

Jackson, Miss (UPI)—Negro entertainers Harry Belafonte and Sidney Poitier left Mississippi Tuesday after presenting integrationists with a $70,000 check to carry on the civil rights project in which three young men lost their lives.

About the time the two entertainers departed, the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO), a coalition of civil rights groups sponsoring the "Mississippi Summer Project" reported another Negro church was burned Monday night near Canton.

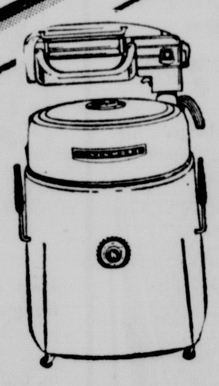

Both Belafonte and Poitier praised the summer civil rights program and promised to return to the state "anytime we can be helpful . . ."

Anybody can make wine. You just get some grapes and jump on them. Take the juice that runs out and put it in a cask.

After it ferments for a while, bottle it.

Put it in a cool cellar for a year. Light a couple of candles and open a bottle and — O, Susannah! Liquid gold.

☆ ☆ ☆

Summer is bright as golden sherry now in the Napa Valley. In the wine valleys of California.

The vineyards are green as a new dollar bill. The grapes, tucked away toward the vine, are about as big as the end of your little finger.

They are growing. Swelling with sugars and juices. And all the things that go into the mysterious chemistry that make poets sing and strong men weep. And go well with women and song.

"Corn shall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids."

That is a nice thought.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anybody can make wine. But not everybody knows how to drink it. Fortunately some years ago, I was made a knight of the Brotherhood of Wine-tasting.

This is a French club and now has chapters in America.

The chapters hold elegant dinners. Choosing exactly the right brand of wine to go with it.

They are the most excellent wines — wines can be excellent and then there are vins ordinaires. And the society is not ordinarily ordinaire, cher Pierre.

☆ ☆ ☆

With your membership in the Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin — (a grapey name itself) — you get a wine tasting cup and a pretty gaudy robe.

You make a little speech. I made mine in the town of Nuits-St. George in France and, bless me, if I can remember what I said.

You have to taste quite a bit of wine before you make your initiation speech. I could have recited the Gettysburg Address for all I know.

It was a wonderful evening. I like being a knight.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is a healthy brotherhood. You cannot smoke during a wine-tasting dinner. It does something to the palate.

The brotherhood is not interested in your health. They just don't want your taste buds all mixed up. Consequently, at meetings of the Confrerie, I always have to go out and make several phone calls.

Being a knight is no cinch. I hate myself for sneaking away to the phone booths.

However, all knights have their weaknesses. Look at Lancelot with Guinevere.

☆ ☆ ☆

If knights are not wearing robes, they wear a little ribbon in the lapel.

This ribbon looks like the ribbon of the French Underground. Only the colors are reversed, that's all.

Most of our wine-tasting is done in wine cellars. So, in a way, we are the French Underground. If somebody makes a mistake and says: "Is that the French Underground ribbon?" — I don't try to correct them.

I just look a little sad. Like a person who has too many memories.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anybody can make wine. But the brotherhood works on it like a federal jury. A knight has many responsibilities. Even a knight with weaknesses.

One of my weaknesses is that I like to put ice in my wine.

Once, while wine-tasting, I even said so.

I nearly lost my tasting cup and robes. Nearly unknighted. But I said I was only joking. That was a close one.

Burney To GOP Summit Meeting

Republican gubernatorial candidate Dwight Burney will attend a national GOP summit meeting of party leaders in Hershey, Pa. Wednesday.

GOP headquarters here reported that the lieutenant governor would leave Omaha by plane Tuesday afternoon and return late Wednesday night to Nebraska.

The meeting was called by Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater to try and heal wounds within the party and unite GOP leaders behind him.

Burney has long been a supporter of the conservative Arizona senator.

Down, But Not Out

Former Nebraska tackle Monte Kiffin has been down more times than anyone but Floyd Patterson. And he's gotten up to fight back more times than anyone, including Patterson.

When he shakes your hand, you begin to wonder if you'll ever find it again in his huge paws. When he walks across a room, it shakes. He's been in more scrapes than a frisky tomcat. But he's friendlier than a tiny puppy.

Cornhusker fans can remember the Lexington native for a lot of things. They can remember him as a high school star, one of several who teamed to hold opponents to a single touchdown during their senior year at Lexington.

They can remember him as the center of a controversy between Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson and Nebraska's Bill Jennings when he was being wooed by college coaches across the country.

They can remember him as the player who almost never played for Nebraska because of a back ailment discovered after he came to the Cornhusker campus. They can remember him for battling back from this ailment and winning a spot on the NU team.

They can remember him for an escapade during his junior year that kept him in Lincoln while his teammates went to New York for the Gotham Bowl. They can remember him for fighting back from this to play a key role in getting the Huskers in the Orange Bowl a year later.

He will be remembered for coming back from a knee injury, suffered during the 1963 season, to knock enough Auburn gridders down in the Orange Bowl Stadium that he got a pro contract with the Minnesota Vikings.

This was a dream come true for Monte — getting a shot with a pro football team.

But Then, Disappointment

But now Kiffin, who has been fighting back much of his life, is faced with the task of battling from behind once again.

The ex-Husker has been placed on the reserve list by the Vikings because of a recurrence of the knee injury that sidelined him for part of last season.

"The team doctor advised me to go home and rest the knee for awhile," Monte explained while stopping in Lincoln en route to his home in Lexington.

"They told me to try working out on it here in Lincoln in a couple of weeks and if it still swells up, they said I would have to come back to camp and probably undergo another operation," he continued.

At any rate, Kiffin will not be a member of the Vikings this fall. But just as in the past, Monte has not given up.

"They are going to keep me on the reserve list all year, but I hope to go back next fall and make it with them," he notes. "I thought it (the knee) was coming along and I started to move better on it the second week of camp. But then all of a sudden it began swelling and I couldn't work."

Tough, But Not Expected

Kiffin admits he was a bit disappointed when he had to give up the task of trying to make the Vikings' club this season.

"It sort of puts you on the spot when you're planning on making the team and then you find yourself out of a job because of an injury," he points out.

The big tackle, who never did fear work, is quick to point out that he liked the life of the pros even if he saw it only for about two weeks.

"Sure, the camp was tough at times," he states. "But everyone expects it to be tough. And practices aren't really any harder than they were at Nebraska.

"We worked twice a day and the workouts were similar to the ones we had under Devaney. The big difference was that we scrimmaged more in the pro camp."

With nearly every backward glance at the two weeks he spent with the Vikings, Kiffin also takes a look forward to next season.

"I still want to play pro football," he says with eagerness in his voice. Don't bet against him — bad knee and all. Monte has bounced back before.

Shula Keys Colts On Fast Getaway In NFL

. . . BALTIMORE STILL HOPING MARCHETTI WILL RETURN TO FOLD

Third In A Series

Westminster, Md. (AP)— Don Shula hopes to get his Baltimore Colts out of the gate in a fast start despite the retirement of Gino Marchetti, the perennial all-pro defensive end.

Althouph club officials still hope that Gino will reconsider and give it one more try, Shula must go ahead with the talent he has in camp.

Don Thompson, a 6-foot 4½-pounder in his third year of pro ball, must fill Marchetti's shoes if the Colts' front four is to hold its own with the Bears, Packers and Lions. If Thompson doesn't make it, Shula will have to do some fast shuffling, perhaps moving Fred Miller to the outside.

"Our main idea is to get off fast," said Shula at the training camp on the campus of Western Maryland College. "Last year we lost three of the first four and dropped out of contention."

"We want to pick up where we left off last fall when we won five of the last six down the stretch."

Shula was new to the club himself last year, his first as head coach. He also had to fit eight rookies into the 1963 squad. Veterans will man most of the key positions this season.

"Johnny Unitas is throwing real sharp," said Shula. "John started slowly last year but he was fantastic in the second half. He broke his own club record with only 12 interceptions. Unitas is just the best quarterback in football. And that goes for everybody."

Shula has a deep respect for the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears but does not read his club out of the Western Conference race.

"We'll be better off on offense from the start," he said. "A year ago we didn't know John Mackey was as good as he is. We didn't have a fullback until Jerry Hill got going. Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr were out and Lenny Moore missed half the season. Tom Matte did a whale of a job at Moore's position. We can count on him. Whatever we get out of Moore will help. We also are counting on help from Tony Lorick, our No. 2 draft from Arizona State who reported late because he was on the College All-Star team."

Lorick at fullback and Ted Davis of Georgia Tech at linebacker are the newcomers with the best chance to fight their way into starting positions.

Unitas has his favorite target, Berry, in action at split end and Mackey, touted as "a new Mike Ditka" at tight end with Orr at the flanker, Hill at fullback and Matte or Moore at running back. Willie Richardson backs up Orr and Gary Cuozzo is the second quarterback.

With Jim Parker, an all-league ace, at left guard the front offensive line is intact. Bob Vogel and George Preas man the tackles, Parker and Alex Sandusky are the guards and Dick Syzmanski is at center.

Defense may present more of a problem to Shula's personnel. The return of Billy Ray Smith, who sat out last year, strengthens one tackle spot with Miller at the other. Ordell Braase will be at his old end job. Marchetti's position is the only problem. Big John Diehl (6-7, 275) also is available at tackle.

The front linebacking trio of Jackie Burkett, Bill Pellington and Don Shinnick is being pressed by Bill Saul, Steve Stonebreaker and Davis.

Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyles figure to fill the corner spots in the deep defense with Jerry Logan, Jim Welch and Andy Nelson scrambling for the safety positions.

Jim Martin, 40-year-old Notre Dame alumnus who won the comeback of the year award last season, will handle the place-kicking. Tom Gilbec will do the punting.

YANKEES STAGGERING

Chisox Take Doubleheader

. . . TRAIL BY ONE GAME

New York (AP) — Pitcher Juan Pizarro hit a three-run homer and won his 15th game of the season Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox whacked the New York Yankees 8-2.

The victory completed a sweep of the day-night doubleheader for Chicago which won the day game 6-4 behind Pete Ward's 17th home run.

The twin triumph moved the White Sox to within one game of the American League—leading Baltimore Orioles, who edged the Boston Red Sox 8-7.

Ward, who had six hits in the doubleheader, and Pizarro were the key stars of the sweep, vaulting the White Sox 2½ games in front of the staggering, third-place Yankees, who lost their fifth game in the last six starts against the Orioles and White Sox. The victories were Chicago's first this season after 10 losses to New York.

Pizarro, who has lost six games, fired a five-hitter and became the winningest pitcher in the American League. His three-run homer capped a five-run White Sox uprising in the sixth inning that wrapped up the night game.

Ward drove in four runs with three hits in the White Sox' 13-hit day game attack. The slugging third baseman crashed his home run with a man on in the seventh and then drove in two runs with a single in the ninth.

Ward's shot came off Yankee starter Ralph Terry, who nursed a 3-2 lead into the seventh.

Joel Horlen, who started for Chicago, retired the first eight batters he faced before walking Terry with two out in the third. Tony Kubek followed with a two-run homer which tied the score.

Gold Cloth Surprises

. . . WINS ELKS PURSE

By DON EVERSOLL
Star Sports Writer

Gold Cloth recovered from a slow start in the Elks Purse Tuesday to win the classy one-mile chase for four-year-olds and up at the State Fairgrounds.

The chestnut mare, owned by James Dobbs of Bellevue, took little notice of big billing given Blue Impala as she provided the top performance of the day, with jockey Fred Ecoffey in the irons.

Her time of 1:40 2-5 flirted with the track record of 1:39 2-5 at that distance set by Sickle Plow on Aug. 15, 1959, and tied by Tile Boy on Aug. 16, 1961.

Sir Booger, a 25-1 longshot, was one length behind the winner in the place position, and show honors went to Haljeannie who was two lengths out of first.

Blue Impala, the early leader with The Wick, wound up sixth.

Gold Cloth returned $6.80, $3.80 and $2.80; Sir Booger, $17.00 and $5.80, and Haljeannie $3.60.

Trip's End used the ninth race to annex his third win of the State Fair meeting in as many starts. Jockey Charles Steck throttled the eight-year-old gelding down the stretch in a flurry to overcome the leader, Roxie's Rose who finished third.

A cool day and the addition of a ninth race brought the biggest weekday crowd of the season to the track. 4,290 fans paid to watch the 14th day of racing.

The feature race today, the Nebraska Breeders Special, offers a fat purse of $2,000-added to three-year-olds entered in the seventh race. Top Impost of 124 pounds has been assigned to Brick Dust in the one-mile event.

PRISCILLA'S ON A SPREE

"That cool air certainly is refreshing.

"You'd think it would make the horses out at the Fairgrounds just want to run and run.

Priscilla

"Of course the way things have been going for me I'll probably pick some horse that can only run when its over 100 degrees.

"Although my previous selections didn't really seem to care for hot air.

"Wednesday I'll make these "cool—that's what the kids say—picks: $2 to win on Andy's Venture in the fifth race and $2 to win on Tiddley Plum in the eighth race."

Tuesday Aunt Priscilla put $2 on Haljeanne to win and $2 on Haljeanne to place. Haljeanne showed. Aunt Priscilla now has $30.60.

McConaughy Providing Top Fishing

The State Game Commission reported Tuesday best fishing in Nebraska recently has been taking place at Lake McConaughy where rainbow trout, white bass, channel cats and walleye are biting.

In its mid-week fishing report, the Commission said trout are being caught on minnows and nightcrawlers along the face of the dam in the evening hours, and walleye are taking spinners. In the east end of the lake, fishermen are boating fat cats on gizzard shad and worms.

SOUTHEAST

Little Blue River —Fine stringers of drum and channel cat being put together by anglers using minnows and worms.

Bluestem Recreation Area — Liver rated to bait for catfish at lake near Sprague.

Lake Hastings — Dead minnows accounting for large numbers of channel catfish in the six-pound class.

NORTHEAST

Missouri River — Crawdads and minnows producing catfish in Ponca area.

Lewis and Clark Lake —Large sauger hitting in Buoy area above powerhouse. White bass striking artificial lures along south shore in late evening.

Columbus Canal —Catfishing is good.

PANHANDLE

Lake Minatare — Foot-long perch and exceptional bullheads biting. Northern pike running well above average.

Kimball Reservoir — Crapipe, perch, bluegill and catfish providing fine sport.

Platte River — Deep holes prime areas for cats in Bridgeport region.

Chadron City Reservoir — Largemouth bass active in evening. Trout grabbing worms and spinners.

White River — Unusually good trout fishing in region around Andrews.

SAND HILLS

Hackberry Lake — Black bass, pike and bullheads biting.

Watts Lake — Northerns and perch filling creels.

West Long Lake — Yellow perch most active species

Powell's Homer Powers Orioles

Baltimore (AP) — Boog Powell's 30th homer, a two-run opposite field blast in the seventh, broke a 6-6 tie and powered the American League leading Baltimore Orioles to an 8-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night.

The come-from-behind triumph enabled the Orioles to maintain a one-game edge over the Chicago White Sox, who swept a day-night doubleheader from New York. The Yankees are 3½ games off the pace.

Powell's homer, on a two-out, 1-2 pitch from ace Boston reliever Dick Radatz, was the third two-run homer of the game for the Orioles.

Rookie Sam Bowens connected in the fourth to put Baltimore ahead 3-2 and Brooks Robinson slugged one in the sixth as the Orioles tied the score 6-6.

The final run in the sixth scored when Bowens blooped a single to center, was picked off base as he rounded first, but went all the way around to score when first baseman Dick Stuart threw wildly past second.

Stuart also figured in a controversial first inning play which prevented a Boston run. One run scored on Frank Malzone's single, but Tony Horton was thrown out at third for the final out before the slow-moving Stuart reached home.

Jets Cut Squad To 47 Players

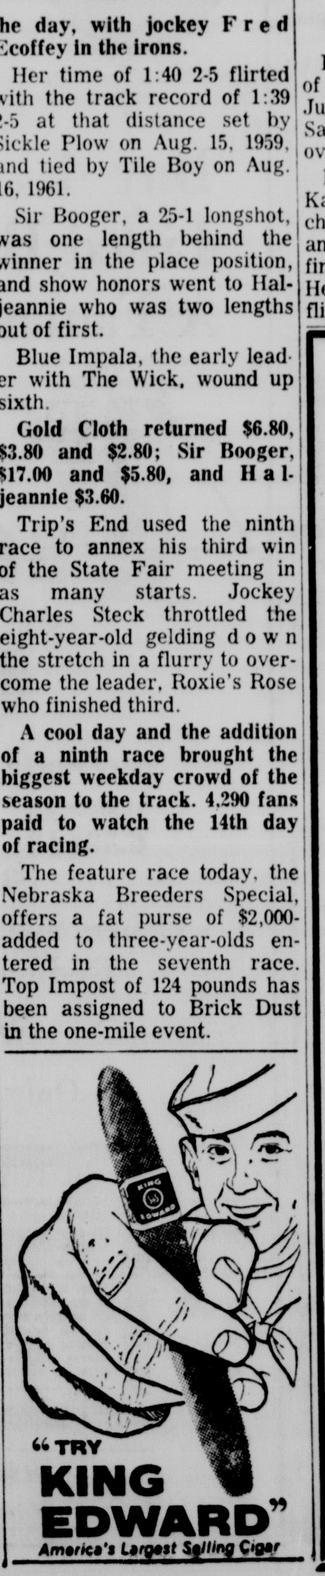

Poughkeepsie, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Jets trimmed their roster to 47 players Tuesday by putting two on the reserve list and four on waivers.

Linebacker Jeff Ware of Pittsburgh and Stu Christhilf, defensive end from Virginia, went on the reserve list.

Veteran guard Roy Hord and rookies Bernie Carney of West Virginia, Hase McKey of Arizona State and Fred Mancuso of Richmond were placed on waivers.

GB Recalls Waivers

Green Bay, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers recalled waivers Tuesday on Tom O'Grady, flanker back from Northwestern. The National Football League club had put O'Grady on waivers Monday.

Phils Clobber Cubs By 13-5

. . . CALLISON HIT GRAND SLAM

Chicago (AP) — Johnny Callison's grand slam homer in the sixth inning and three doubles by Frank Thomas powered the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies to a 13-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Callison's slam, the first for the Phillies this year, capped a five-run rally which was touched off by Gus Triandos' fourth homer and overcame a 5-4 Chicago lead.

Thomas, acquired from the New York Mets last week, doubled home two runs in the second and another in the third, giving the Phils a 3-0 lead.

Chicago picked up a run in the third on Joey Amalfitano's triple and a single by Doug Clemens but Philadelphia made it 4-1 in the fourth on singles by Tony Taylor and Ruben Amaro and a wild pitch by Dick Ellsworth.

Andre Rodgers hit his 10th homer in the fourth and Ernie Banks' 14th homer with two men on base in the fifth kayoed starter Ray Culp and put the Cubs in front.

Elks Crown To Standard Reliance '9'

Standard Reliance posted identical 4-1 records in each half of the split Elks League baseball season, but had to win a three-way playoff from Prairie Maid and Lawlors for the second-half crown.

With Standard Reliance winning both halves, no playoff was required to decide the season champion. The champions will meet the Lincoln Moose at 7:30 tonight at the Elks Diamond and the Elks League All-Stars will play the Elks alums Thursday at 7:30.

The Elk alums team will include players such as Jan Wall, Dave Myers, Porky Oltman, Rich Luft, Harold Kelley, Dean Sell, Bill Honnor and Jim Munford.

Les Tyrrell of Standard Reliance was named the outstanding Elks pitcher for the past season while Gary Hoy of Lawlors was named the top catcher. The outstanding outfielder award went to Dick Clemens of Gerry's and the No. 1 infielder was Joe Gaughna of Bonebright.

Gaughan was the league batting king. Alex Walters of Prairie Maid was awarded the sportsmanship trophy.

The final standings:

1st North Contact Brings 2 Injuries

Fremont (AP) — The Shrine Bowl North squad had its first contact work Tuesday and also its first injuries.

Mike Pryor and John Smolen, both guards from Creighton Prep, suffered pulled muscles. Coach Harold Chaffee of Sidney described neither injury as too serious.

At the second morning session the squad worked on its passing game and in the afternoon went back to work on fundamentals and did some more contact work.

Chaffee said that in wind sprints a pair of Scottsbluff boys had turned out to be the speedsters of the squad. They are Chuck Hohnstein, an end, and Bruce Black, a halfback.

The first scrimmage is set for Thursday afternoon and a game scrimmage for 2 p.m. Sunday.

Gerhardt Chosen Baseball Coach At Kearney State

Kearney—The appointment of Fred Gerhardt as head baseball coach at Kearney State College was announced Tuesday by Dr. Milton J. Hassel, college president.

Gerhardt, replacing Bill Giles will join the Kearney State staff on Aug. 25.

Since 1948, he has been on the staff at South Lyon, Mich. high school. He has coached football, basketball, and baseball. The past few years he has also served as co-ordinator of physical education and athletics at the high school.

Aaron's Homers Spark Milwaukee

Milwaukee (AP)—Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his 19th and 20th home runs, leading the Milwaukee Braves to an uphill 9-6 victory over Houston Tuesday night after the Colts had knocked out Warren Spahn for the 14th time in his last 15 starts.

Giants Keep Pace With Phils By Topping Cards

St. Louis (AP)—Two-run homers by Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays carried the San Francisco Giants to a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

The victory kept the second-place Giants three games behind the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies, who defeated Chicago 13-5.

Harvey Kuenn, who led off all three San Francisco scoring innings with doubles and scored each time, opened the game with a two-bagger off loser Curt Simmon.

Kuenn came home on Hal Lanier's single and Cepeda followed with an opposite field homer, his 20th, to the right field roof.

Kuenn led off the third with another double and Mays blasted his 33rd homer into the center field shrubbery, 425 feet away.

South Hustle Pleases Coach

Crete (AP) — Coach Merle Applebee ran his South Shrine squad through a heavy workout on fundamentals, timing and play patterns Tuesday on the second day of workouts at the Doane College campus.

Following the workouts, the Omaha South coach said he was pleased with the hustle shown and said the squad members appeared to know what was expected of them and how to fit into his system of plays.

He said Tuesday's cooler weather contributed to the workout.

The first injury of the session was reported. Tackle Dan Ellis of Lincoln Northeast suffered a knee injury but Applebee said it would be Wednesday before the seriousness would be determined.

The coach praised the play of his ends, Sam Tyson and Jerry De Poyster of Bellevue, Fred Newman of Boys Town, Walter Gullie of Omaha South, and Marty Jacobsen of Lincoln Northeast.

He also praised Chuck Hall, Pawnee City back, Fred Held, Bellevue back, and Don South, Hastings center, for their hustle in practice.

49ers Trim 5 Rookies, Including Larry Rawson

San Francisco (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers trimmed five rookies from their National Football league squad Tuesday, including Larry Rawson, Auburn fullback. Rawson was a 19th draft choice.

Baseball Owners Shelve Grid Draft

. . . IN JOINT MEETING

Chicago (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's term officially was extended Tuesday through the 1965 World Series and plans for a football style player draft of free agents were shelved.

The American and National Leagues, meeting in a 30-minute joint session, quickly accepted the recommendation of the Executive Council that Frick be asked to finish his term.

The owners voted to include the players of the fifth place clubs in the World Series money pool, following another recommendation by the Executive Council. Each fifth place player would get about $300 on the basis of last year's receipts.

Frick's long work on a free agent player draft came to nought when the owners split down the middle in the proposal. No formal vote was taken, but Frick estimated about half the clubs favored some sort of football-type draft of high school and college boys. The others preferred the present first-year rule with alterations.

"I came away with the impression that the present rule with amendments probably will solve the problem," said Frick.

Christie Fails To Make Cutoff In Girls Meet

Leavenworth, Kan. (AP) — Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., battled extremly high wind gusts to shoot an 80 Tuesday and win medalist honors at the USGA national junior golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 154.

Two strokes back was Laura MacIvor of Elgin Air Force Base, Fla., with a 156.

Janis Ferraris of San Francisco, the defending champion, shot a 157, the same as Mary Pritchett of Raleigh, N.C.

The low 32 scores will go into five-round match play competition beginning Wednesday.

Christie Schwartzkopf of Lincoln turned in a 95 during Tuesday's windy second round for a two-day total of 181, putting her 14 strokes below the cutoff point.

Promising Iowa Gridder Tripped Up By Grades

Iowa City, Iowa (AP)—Dave Dirkx, promising university of Iowa sophomore quarterback, will not be eligible for competition this fall, Coach Jerry Burns said Tuesday.

Dirkx failed to make the necessary grades in the summer session, Burns said. He had been regarded as the probable No. 2 quarterback behind Gary Snook.

Hyland Tops Qualifiers In LCC Ladies Meet

Jean Hyland, former Lincoln city and Nebraska state golf champion, led qualifiers Tuesday in the Lincoln Country Club ladies tournament with an 86.

Betty Abel was the No. 2 qualifier with 89. The gals will begin match play competition today.

Athletics Lose Sixth Straight

Kansas City (AP) — Jim King and Don Lock smashed home runs and Claude Osteen posted his 11th victory Tuesday night as the Washington Senators handed the Kansas City Athletics' their sixth straight loss, 5-2.

Illinois Favored To Repeat In Big 10

. . . MINNESOTA FACES SERIOUS REBUILDING JOB

Chicago (AP)—Illinois, with two lettermen fortifying each position and some eager sophomores ready to battle for their jobs, is favored to repeat as Big Ten football champion this season.

Of the 44-man Illini Rose Bowl-winning squad, 33 return, including co-captain and All-America center-linebacker Dick Butkus.

The line looks firm with few losses from tackle to tackle. Four lettermen and three promising sophomores soften the loss of the starting ends.

The attacking backfield can be geared to such performers as Jim Grabowski, Sam Price, Dick Kee, Tony Parola and junior quarterback Fred Custardo.

Coach Pete Elliott lost three-fourths of an outstanding defensive backfield, and rebuilning it appears to be the main problem.

Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State must be regarded the main challengers of Illinois supremacy. Indiana, Northwestern and Wisconsin are listed as the top spoilers. Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue appear to be strugglers trying to keep up with the pace.

Indiana has won only two conference games since 1961, but could be the big surprise of 1964. The Hoosiers have 28 of their first 33 men returning. They include fullback Tom Nowatzke, the Big Ten rushing leader last season; junior halfbacks Don Dilly and Trent Walters and junior end Bill Malinchak who figures to team with passer Rich Badar to make one of the league's better aerial threats.

If Coach Phil Dickens can tighten his pass defense, the Hoosiers could aim for the first division.

Pete Elliott's brother, Bump, at Michigan could field a winner. Bob Timberlake is as good as any quarterback in the conference, and with seven lettermen at end, he has plenty of targets. There will be more speed in the backfield with John Rowser, Dorie Reid, and Dick Rindfuss.

Michigan State lost four speedy backs and may be the slowest Spartan team in years. Quarterback Steve Juday is fit and Dick Proebstle can spell him. Defense, especially in the backfield, again could be MSU's main forte.

Ohio State was jolted when grades kayoed junior halfback Bob Scott and sophomore sensation Bennie Blocker. But Coach Woody Hayes still has Tom Barrington, who played all backfield positions last year, and the makings of a rugged defensive unit.

Northwestern, under new coach Alex Agase, is switching to a straight T offense, rallying around passing ace Tom Myers. Casimir Banaszek, 6-3 sophomore end, is bound to become Myers No. 1 battery mate.

Wisconsin will have fair overall speed and good ends, especially on offense with Jim Jones. Top running backs are Carl Silvestri, fullback Ralph Kurek and sophomores Tom Jankowski and Kim Wood.

There is supposed to be quarterback trouble, but this has been coach Milt Bruhn's yearly lament. This season he has lefty Hal Brandt and sophomore Chuck Burt fighting for the No. 1 job.

Purdue's biggest task is replacing running-passing quarterback Ron DiGravio. Fullback also is a looming problem and halfback John Kuzniewski, the team's leading rusher in 1963, has been shifted there.

Iowa mostly needs defensive linebacking replacements, a good running fullback, and capable pass receivers for Gary Snook.

Murray Warmath is wrapped up in his most serious rebuilding job in 11 years at Minnesota. Among his problems are plugging holes at tackle left by Carl Eller and Milt Sunde and finding adequate material at guard, quarterback, halfback and fullback.

Hastings Legion Field Completed

Des Moines (AP)—Waterloo defeated Bellizzi-MacRae of Des Moines 6-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Rich Rolkers Tuesday night to win the Iowa American Legion junior baseball championship.

Waterloo's Gaylen Tann hit a three-run triple in the seventh inning.

Waterloo will play Guthrie, Okla., in the Region 6 tournament Saturday at Hastings, Neb.

Other regional games will pit Aberdeen, S.D. against Mandan, N.D., and Grand Island, Neb., against Lawrence, Kan. Minneapolis Grain Exchange, the Minnesota champion, has a first-round bye.

A challenge to millionaire cigar smokers

(and anyone else who smokes fine cigars)

Send us the bands from any two cigars costing 2 for 25¢ or more, and we'll send you two complimentary White Owl New Yorkers!

The point? Simply this:

The New Yorker is an extraordinary achievement in cigar making. Big, handsome—a unique combination of flavor and mildness. We're asking you to compare the New Yorker with any cigar costing two for 25¢ or more.

We're confident you'll enjoy the New Yorker's new blend of costly, case-aged tobaccos, and decide to make it your smoke. The New Yorker is an exciting new reason for calling White Owl America's most expensive 10¢ cigar.

Why not accept our challenge? Mail two bands from any two cigars costing two for 25¢ or more to White Owl Dept. AAA, P.O. Box 380 Murray Hill Station, New York, N.Y. 10016. You'll receive your New Yorkers promptly: Offer limited: 2 cigars to a customer, expires October 15, 1964.

Stock Market Is Indecisive

New York (AP) — The stock market dragged its heels through another slow session Tuesday as Wall Street failed to get any message from the cloudy crystal ball of international affairs.

Volume remained at a subnormal 3.46 million shares, not much improvement over Monday's 3.05 million.

The popular market indicators took slight losses, even though there were more gainers than losers. This was accounted for by declines of certain pivotal blue chips and also by a technical factor—that several of the stocks in the averages were selling "ex dividend."

In early trading, prices were somewhat improved over the previous session and the pace was just a bit faster.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a minor loss of 1.27 at 828.08.

Of 1,321 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 579 rose and 455 fell. New highs for the year totaled 28 and new lows 19.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .4 to 313.9 with industrials off .3, rails off .3 and utilities off .5.

Among the 15 most active stocks, the pattern was brighter, nine rising, five falling and American Telephone closing unchanged.

Most leading steels added fractions. All the leading motors made fractional gains except Studebaker which eased ⅛. Aerospace defense stocks were irregularly lower. Oils, drugs, electrical equipments and chemicals were mixed.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange had an irregularly higher tone. Volume was 1.01 million shares compared with 1.05 million Monday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were generally unchanged.

Most Grains Rise In Buying Flurry

Chicago (AP) — All commodities except wheat climbed into a strong range Tuesday in late transactions on the Board of Trade as speculators led a flurry of buying.

Corn and soybeans closed with advances of more than a cent at the extreme while rye moved up more than two cents on the September contract and more than a cent on most other deliveries. Oats posted gains of major fractions and wheat was mostly easier.

Wheat was ½ cent a bushel lower to ½ higher, September new grade $1.40¼; corn ¾-1½ higher, September $1.19⅜; oats ⅝-⅞ higher, September 64 cents; rye ¾-2¼ higher, September $1.27½; soybeans ⅝-1⅜ higher, August $2.50¾-½

$1.5 Million Suit Is Filed Against Nebraska Firm

Denver (AP)—A suit asking $1.5 million was filed in Federal Court here Tuesday by two Hugo, Colo., families against the Watson-Wilson transportation system, a Nebraska firm with offices in Denver.

The complaint charged that two Watson-Wilson trucks were responsible for an accident 18 months ago on U.S. 24 about two miles west of Burlington, Colo.

The complaint said that Ray Schroeder, 38, was driving west and attempted to pass one of the trucks. He saw a vehicle approaching and attempted to return to the westbound lane. However, the suit alleges, the two trucks refused to let him in and the collision with a car driven by Leonard Eaton resulted.

Schroeder asked $58,400 in damages. Also injured were his wife, Betty Jo; their two daughters and Schroeder's brother and sister-in-law Homer and Dolores Schroeder, and their son, Carroll.

Homer Schroeder asked for $505,000 damage, his wife for $640,000; their son $15,000 and the children of Ray Schroeder $6,000 each.

Bit Of Nebraska Landed On Moon

Columbus (UPI) — A little bit of Nebraska fell on the moon the other day.

Bill Simpson, president of Dale Electronics, was notified that resistors manufactured by his firm were a part of the highly successful Ranger VII mission to the moon.

The resistors were part of the picture-taking apparatus which took over 4,000 pictures and transmitted them back to earth.

Hanighen Rites Set Wednesday

Omaha (AP) — Funeral services will be Wednesday for John J. Hanighen Jr., 69, chairman of the board of one of Omaha's pioneer mechanical contracting, plumbing, heating and air conditioning concerns.

Last December he stepped down as president and became chairman of the board of a firm bearing his name. His son, J. J. Hanighen, 3rd, became president.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters and a son.

33 County Officials At Breakfast

Washington (AP)—Thirty-three Nebraska county officials attended the Nebraska congressional delegation's weekly breakfast Tuesday.

The group is here for the convention of the National Association of Counties.

Heading the delegation was Ivan Miller of Carleton, president of the Nebraska County Officials Association, and Carl Stark of Ravenna, vice president. Others included Carl Hartman of Lincoln, Lancaster County clerk.

Joe Young of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture said he was here discussing coordination of shelter belt windbreak research in Nebraska with U.S. Forest Service officials and with members of Congress.

Eight Girl Scouts from Nebraska City, accompanied by four adults, were at the breakfast. They are on a tour of the east. Also present from Lincoln were Charles Chance and family and a tour group.

Trees, Houses Suffer Damage From Tornado

Clearwater (AP) — A tornado damaged trees and caused some damage to houses in the south part of Clearwater Monday afternoon.

Most of the structural damage was done by falling trees. About seven residences were hit.

Television antennas were ripped from roofs. All the south windows of the Lutheran Church were broken.

Another twister destroyed a large barn at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Graffis about one and one-half miles south of Belden. Power lines were knocked down.

Wind and hail damage was reported at both the Grand Island Airport and at North Loup. Sutton and Phillips also suffered some wind damage.
